YOUTH ADMITS STARTING PLANT FIRES

Dulles Maps Recovery of South Korea

Discusses Plans for Rebuilding War-Torn Country With Rhee

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Syngman Rhee, apparently in accord on a U. S.-Korean mutual security pact, today mapped plans for the reconstruction of war-torn South Korea.

Dulles and top aides sat for almost two hours with the South Korean President while subordinate officers worked on final details of a mutual defense pact.

Authoritative sources said the treaty—subject to ratification by the U. S. Senate—could be ready for initialing before Dulles leaves Saturday for Washington.

Dulles told newsmen after today's session the talks were going "fine."

Later in the day, Dulles and the 78-year-old Rhee toured Seoul alone for a look at the city and what the U. S. diplomat called an informal chat.

Dulles said today's meeting, the second since he arrived Tuesday, was devoted largely to plans for spending 200 million dollars already voted by Congress to start the rehabilitation of South Korea.

The money is the first of an expected 900 million dollar allocation to be spread over a three or four-year period.

Dulles said Army Secretary Robert Stevens did most of the talking at the meeting because the appropriation will come from Defense Department funds.

Dulles said the potentially explosive question of Korean unification had not yet been discussed but probably would come up at Friday's session, set for 10 a. m. (8 p. m., EST, Thursday).

Liked To See Engines Pass, He Confesses

Just Something To Do, He Tells Police; Place Damage at $227,000

An 18-year-old Marion youth today confessed he set six industrial fires in Marion which resulted in damage exceeding $227,000, Police Chief Tom Coon reported.

The youth, Paul Edwin Holycross of 429 Waterloo St., told police he set them "just to have something to do," that he liked to watch the fire engines go by, Coon said.

He was arrested after attempting to set another fire yesterday afternoon to some lumber at the Marion Power Shovel Co. "farm" between Davids and Clinton Sts., the chief said.

After several hours of questioning, he admitted setting the factory fires in June and July, Coon said. He is to be formally charged this afternoon or tomorrow, the chief said.

The key figures in the arrest were a guard at the Power Shovel farm, Charles Tanner, and Police Captain George H. Manley.

Tanner made the call to police after he had spotted the youth trying to set the fire yesterday afternoon, Coon reported. Tanner told police he went up to Holycross and tried to persuade him to go to the guard house, but Holycross fled.

Tanner who lives at 124½ Forest Lawn Blvd., then called Manley. When Manley arrived at the scene of the attempted fire, Tanner gave a description of the suspect. Manley located the youth he thought fit the description at his home, 429 Waterloo St.

Guard Identifies Him

Manley then returned to the Shovel farm, brought the guard to the Holycross house where Tanner identified the youth as the one he had seen attempting to set the fire. Holycross was then brought to police headquarters where he was questioned into the early hours this morning.

Questioning him were Manley, Police Chief Tom Coon, Patrolman Virgil Campbell, and C. R. LaMonda, arson investigator for the state fire marshal.

Holycross gave an accurate description of the methods he used in setting the fires, even including the journal boxes of the railroad cars from which he obtained the waste material he used in the arson, Coon said.

Chief Coon said this morning Holycross told them details which only four men in the city knew, Coon, LaMonda, Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt, and the fire bug.

Confesses Six Fires

Chief Coon said Holycross admitted setting the following fires:

1. June 15, Erie Freight Station, $10,000 damage.
2. June 15, shipping crates on the Power Shovel farm, $1,000.
3. June 15, Betty Zane Popcorn Co. storage bins, $165,000.
4. June 26, Marion County Farm Bureau elevator, $51,000.
5. June 27, Plant Life Fertilizer Co., negligible damage.
6. July 15, Marion Iron and Metal Co., $10,600.

Investigators said Holycross told them he set the fires "just to have something to do." He told them he did not stay to watch the fires, but returned to his home to watch the fire engines speed to the scene of his work.

Auxiliaries Commended

Coon, LaMonda, and Sifritt were especially pleased at the manner in which the three departments, police, fire and state fire marshal, had cooperated in an effort to break the case. Lamonda said the results could not have been obtained without close cooperation.

The auxiliary police and firemen also received credit for their work. Coon said these men had cruised the areas where the fires had been set, without pay or re-

15 U.S. Airmen Still Missing in North Atlantic

4 Survive After B36 Drops in Ocean; Ships Recover Bodies of 4

LONDON (AP)—U. S. Air Force planes roared off British fields in dismal weather today to continue the desperate search for 16 American airmen still missing in the icy North Atlantic.

Surface ships were en route to British ports with four survivors and three bodies, the rest of the 23 men aboard a giant RB36 reconnaissance bomber when it went down before dawn yesterday south of Iceland with 5 of its engines ablaze.

The survivors and the bodies were picked up from lifeboats and one-man dinghies after planes directed the ships to the area.

Heavy fog delayed the takeof of the first daylight search flight of 25 planes until 9 a. m. today but the weather was expected to clear later.

The 7,636-ton British merchant ship Manchester Shipper radioed this morning:

"Have on board one survivor, Roy de Vere Speer, staff sergeant, 18196030, address, Route 1, Bennington, Okla., apparently in sound condition. Escaped through forward turret in rubber dinghy.

"Two dead on board are Walter Norman Hunter, captain, 2068762, address, 411 Nobel St. Fairbanks; Robert Eugene Yeoman, staff sergeant, 18354161, address, 133 Vaca Valley Acres, Vaca Valley, Calif."

A crew list issued yesterday by Travis Air Force Base, Calif., gave Capt. Hunter's address as San Jacinto, Calif., and Sgt. Yeoman's as Buchanan, Mich.

Another British ship, the 1805-ton Manchester Pioneer, reported it had three survivors aboard. The French trawler Magdalena picked up one body.

Travis Air Force Base said the three other survivors were Maj. George E. Parkes, 37, navigator of the plane, from Nephi, Utah; Airman 1.C. Harold E. Parker, 22, a gunner, of Spokane, Wash., and Sgt. Charles M. DeHaven, 24, crew chief, Stroudsburg, Pa.

The third body was not identified.

Taft Effects Go To Wife in Will

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft made a will to dispose of his estate only last June 12 — after he had learned he had cancer — it was disclosed yesterday.

The will, filed in probate, left all of the senator's effects to his wife, Martha, in two funds. One proviso set up 49 per cent of the assets from which Mrs. Taft will receive the income for life and which she may dispose of as she desires.

The other proviso set up the remaining 51 per cent and directed Mrs. Taft also receive the net income from it for life. At her death it will be divided equally among the Tafts' four sons.

Sen. Taft died in New York last Friday.

Eisenhower Vetoes Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today vetoed a bill which would have repealed the 20 per cent federal tax on movie tickets.

Predicts 'Poor Season' for Irish

Leahy Stops at Airport On Way to Washington

By JOHN SHORT
Star Sports Editor

Frank Leahy was his usual pessimistic self on a brief visit to Marion Wednesday afternoon.

Stopping briefly at Marion Municipal Airport, on the way to Washington and a golf date with President Eisenhower the Notre Dame football coach bemoaned the fate in store for this year's edition of the Notre Dame grid crew.

"I don't think we'll make too many friends," Leahy said in speaking of the Irish prospects. "We won't make many of the people happy who are pulling for us but the enemy will be very happy," he added.

The genial grid master was flying from Chicago to Washington where he is scheduled to play golf today with President Eisenhower. The trip was made in a private plane. With him were officials of the Bankers Life and Casualty Insurance Co. of Chicago. The unscheduled stop at Marion was made to allow John F. Lang of the insurance firm to land here. Mr. Lang remained in Marion for a business visit.

Leahy, along with E. H. Weig, also of the insurance firm, continued on the Washington after a 10-minute layover at Municipal Airport. John Ferris was pilot of the big Aero Commander plane.

Notre Dame Club Project

The golf date in Washington was arranged by the Notre Dame Club of Washington, D. C., Leahy said. It is the first golf event planned by the group but it is set up to become an annual affair.

Leahy, who not only talks but plays a good game of golf, is in a foursome made up of President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon and Joe LeFortune, former Notre Dame grid great now serving as administrator of petroleum in America.

Leahy switched back to his first love, football, and began speaking again of the approaching campaign. Pressed further about his team, he admitted "I'll have one pretty 'fair' backfield."

All-American Johnny Lattner will run out of one halfback post with Joe Heap returning to the other. Neil Worden is back at full and Ralph Guglielmi and Tom Carey will handle the signal call-

Big 4 Talks Possible

U.S. Scans Soviet Note For Clue to Policy Shift

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials seem to think Moscow pulled a boner in its note about a Big Four meeting by indicating that conclusion of an Austrian treaty should await substantial agreement on Germany.

These officials are handling the note gingerly, because of considerable uncertainty about what the Soviets are up to. But on the whole, they appear to regard it as fairly weak and possibly mirroring Kremlin adjustment of political pressures such as the East Germany uprisings.

The Russian note, responding to the West's July 15 bid for a Big Four foreign ministers session on German unification and Austrian independence, was received late Tuesday in Washington, London London and Paris.

Representatives of the State Department opened consultations with British and French diplomats here yesterday afternoon. The State Department has kept Secretary of State Dulles informed while he is in Seoul conferring with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. It is not expected that a Western reply will be dispatched to Moscow until after Dulles returns here next week.

At any rate, the expectation here was that the ministers' meeting on German unification would be held sometime this fall or winter.

In intensive closed-door meetings throughout yesterday, some authorities reportedly advanced the idea that the Reds are not actually very interested in talks on Germany—hence the note's confusing phrases and ideas which might require clarification before the Western Powers can reply.

In respect to an Austrian treaty, which has been negotiated for six years and could be quickly concluded any time, the Russians said: "A possible successful solution of the German problem could also help a solution of the Austrian question."

This was regarded by American officials as an unnecessary declaration by which Russia struck a blow at Austria's hopes for ending the occupation and regaining full control of its affairs.

It seems certain that the United States would make propaganda capital of this as a boner—hammering a point that the Soviets are playing ruthless power politics with Austrian sovereignty and rights.

Food Blockade Lifted in Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Communist blockade on rail travel to West Berlin's free food stations was cracking today under the pressure of East Germany's hungry millions.

Thousands of Soviet zoners were joining the throngs of East Berliners lining up for food packages; Many reported they had been able to buy railroad tickets to Berlin for the first time since Saturday, when the East government clampe on its ban.

East Germany's government made no announcement it was lifting its ban, and in many places tickets reportedly still were not on sale. Relief oficials, however, reported that people from farther reaches of the Soviet zone said railway employes had sold them tickets quietly at various stations.

The cracks in the blockade became apparent last night after railroad workers in Brandenburg province—which rings Berlin—slipped through 40,000 of their hungry countrymen.

Others got around the travel ban by bicycling, hitchhiking with trailer trucks or coming by bus to stations near Berlin and then on foot into the city. Railroadmen also smuggled through many parcels for their families and friends.

At the close of distribution last night nearly 160,000 parcels had been distributed, despite bad weather and the travel restrictions, to lift the 10-day total to 1,600,000.

70 Are Americans

Reds Hand Back 392 More U.N. War Prisoners in Second Day of Trading

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists gave back 392 Allied war prisoners today. Two already are dead and others were gaunt and haggard but many returned to freedom laughing and shouting.

Seventy Americans came out of Red prisons. Forty-two of them were sick or wounded.

The Communists said they would send back 400 more Allied captives tomorrow in the third day of the Korean War prisoner exchange. Eighty-one will be Americans, bringing the total for three days to 221.

One South Korean died in a Communist ambulance en route to Panmunjom today. Another died shortly after.

Still other ROK soldiers were reported at the edge of death. They looked pitiful.

Some Americans appeared in good shape and the 25 British and 25 Turks all appeared healthy.

U. S. men told of torture in North Korean stockades. They told of hunger and beatings and buddies who died.

Many of the diehard Red prisoners sent north broke into a frenzied demonstration as they left U. N. hands. They howled, screamed, ripped their clothing and went back to communism nearly naked. Two failed in an escape attempt.

One Red smashed an American ambulance driver in the nose.

They threw boots, clothing and other gear at U. N. personnel. One oficer was hit in the mouth and suffered a split lip.

The U. N. Command protested sharply. A U. N. officer said later the Communists told him "they would take measures to see that incidents do not happen again."

The outbursts obviously were set up for waiting Red photographers and newsmen.

One American ambulance driver said they had orders not to make any moves against the rebellious Reds. He said they were told to grin and bear it.

Some of the South Koreans angrily tore of their clothing and shouted at Red personnel, but they did not attack them. One South Korean spat at a nearby Communist officer.

A pain-wracked South Korean summed up the ROK feelings as he muttered a curse:

"May God damn the Communists!"

In general, the Americans appeared to be somewhere between the good health of the British and the ragged condiiton of the ROKs.

Medics rushed some seriously sick or wounded Americans directly to hospitals while others appeared in excellent condition.

This aftermath of war already has raised galling questions:

Why had the Reds held back these sick and wounded men from the disabled exchange last April? (In Washington, Sen. Potter (R-Mich) demanded a senate investigation.)

What about the stories from two U. S. officers who said the Reds only days ago sentenced a U. S. lieutenant colonel and other officers to prison terms for "instigating against peace"?

The Reds had no answers, and, for the moment, neither did anyone else.

The Red Peiping radio said only that all sick and wounded non-Korean prisoners of war were given a medical checkup before their departure for Panmunjom and that "most of them had only minor ailments."

Maj. Gen. Choi Suk, in charge of receiving returned ROK prisoners, said angrily the latest group of South Koreans "are worse, more ill, than those returned to us in Little Switch (the April disabled exchange)—and they were ill long before Little Switch."

The Communists handed these men back without comment.

One of the first Americans freed

Tell of Red Atrocities

GI's and ROK's Describe Horrors of Prison Camp

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Americans and South Koreans freed by the Communists today told of beatings, burnings, death marches and starvation at the hands of their Red captors—horrors which they said killed countless fellow prisoners.

Lt. Col. Thomas D. Harrison, highest ranking American officer yet returned in the two-day prisoner exchange, arrived on crutches with one leg missing. He said the Communists starved him seven days, then repeatedly smothered him with a wet towel and revived him with jabs from a lighted cigarette. It was a fruitless attempt to get military information, he said.

He said he knew of "at least 60 officers who were so ill they should have been returned" last April during the exchange of disabled prisoners. He said the Reds told him he was held back "because I was a bad boy—I used my rank and eloquence to influence other prisoners."

Today's accounts, if not as sweepingly lurid as ordeals described by sick and wounded POWs freed last April, were all the more intense and personal. A new Army censorship rule allows a liberated prisoner to tell only of atrocities he saw.

Harrison lost his leg after it was crushed when Red anti-aircraft guns blasted his F80 jet to earth near Sinuiju in North Korea May 21, 1951.

Cpl. Russell P. James, Auburn, Wash., said he had seen the burial of more than 1,500 American prisoners who died of wounds or froze to death in North Korea during

Long Suspense Over for Three Ohio Families

Happiness, cushioned with concern, characterized the reaction of three Ohio families who learned their loved ones were included in the 70 American prisoners of war released today by the Communists in Korea.

The three GI's are Marine Pfc. Francis E. Kohus Jr. of Norwood, Cpl. Jennings R. Channell of Girard and Pfc. Anthony Ludwig of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Grace Kohus, mother of the 1st Marine Division veteran, gasped:

"I'm so happy I can't say anything. I don't know what to say."

But she composed herself enough to tell a reporter that waiting "was something terrible" for the son who enlisted right after he reached his 18th birthday to years ago.

Mrs. Kohus, a telephone operator, said:

"I have no plans for his coming home. I don't care what we do as long as he gets home."

The mother of Cpl. Channell, Mrs. Fanny Channell, was a little doubtful when an Associated Press newsman called her to tell her son was among the POW returnees.

"Are you sure he's coming home?" she asked. "I've been disappointed so many times."

She said her son, 23, had been a carpenter before entering the service. The family came to Ohio from West Virginia several years ago.

"You know what I'm going to do now?" Mrs. Channell asked. "I'm going to start thinking up a meal

Designed To Conform With City Code

Marion Police Adopt New Style Traffic Tickets

Traffic tickets issued by Marion policemen took on a new look today to make them conform with rules of the new city traffic code.

While there is no change in the color—the tickets are still yellow—there are extensive changes in the wording and the format.

On examination, motorists unlucky enough to receive one will notice there are two sections entitled "Ticket Violation" and "Citation." Beside each of these titles is a square in which the police officer making the arrest will place a check mark.

If the ticket violation square is checked the motorist may go to the police traffic violations bureau and pay the appropriate fine or he may elect to have a hearing in Municipal Court.

If the citation section is checked—and this will be true only in the case of violations involving a moving vehicle—then the motorist must appear in Municipal Court at the date and time indicated on the ticket.

Penalty for Violtions

Under the ticket violation section is a warning which reads, "Note: Failure to respond to two or more notifications may cause your car to be impounded."

Under the citation section is a similar warning which reads, "Failure to obey this summons will result in a warrant being issued for your arrest."

Police Chief Tom Coon explained that this section of the ticket may be used at the officer's discretion. Patrolmen may still arrest motorists for more serious violations and hold them in city prison or rquire them to post bond for appearance in Municipal Court.

Also, no citations will be issued to any motorist living outside Marion County. All such motorists who violate a traffic law will be arrested, Coon said.

Advantage of the use of the citation will be convenience to motorist and patrolman alike, Coon said. For example, under the previous set-up every motorist stopped on a moving violation was arrested and taken to the police station to be booked. This required as much as an hour during which time the patrolmen was restricted from performing other duties.

Under the new plan, a patrolman may stop a speeding motorist or reckless driver, issue him a citation, then go on his way with a loss of only a few minutes' time.

Extra Day To Pay

Another change included under the ticket violations section also makes for greater convenience to the recipient. This is a provision that tickets may be paid anytime within two days between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the police station. The old tickets required payment within one day.

Set up by Coon and City Solicitor George A. Piacentino, the back of the tickets also carry a notice that any person who does not present his driver's license when paying a ticket for a moving violation must be slated for appearance in Municipal Court.

This means that if a motorist is stopped for running a red light

Marion Boys Help Fight Forest Fire

Explorers of Scout Post Two, sponsored by Edison Junior High PTA, experienced a thrilling climax for their one-week expedition to Lake of Two Rivers in Canada during July.

On the last day of the trip, which started July 11 and lasted until July 19, the 17 Explorers and 11 adult leaders helped forest rangers extinguish a forest fire which started in the brush near their camp site. The fire, which had gained some headway before it was discovered, was finally brought under control about two hours later. The post was highly commended for its quick action in extinguishing the fire.

Six cars and three trailers were required to make the trip which covered more than 1,350 miles. Bruce Hale, Explorer advisor, and Howard Ziegler were in charge of the expedition. Other trip leaders were Herbert Clapsaddle, Elden Jones, Scoutmaster of Troop Two, Virgil Powell and Paul Rudolph. The group was also accompanied by the four leaders' wives and their families.

Also included in the trip highlights were two nature trails, which were over a mile long. More than 40 deer were seen and as many as seven bears were seen at one time, according to reports from the Explorers. Several of the members went on a day-long canoe trip which covered 18 miles through four lakes, three rivers and one portage.

The group traveled by way of Windsor on the way to the Lake of Two Rivers and returned by way of Buffalo, N. Y., and Niagara Falls. Explorers camped out every night and cooked their meals, which included several prepared with special "trail packets." The packets are complete meals dehydrated and placed in water proof plastic bags.

While in Canada, the group visited the new nature museum at Algonquin Park and were guests of the museum superintendent, who presented several films and gave a talk on wild life in Canada.

Braves Hope for Double Victory To Stay in Race

Two Losses Would Hike Brooks' Lead to 9½ Games

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

With one eye on the standings and the other on the calendar, this looks like the day of decision for the Milwaukee Braves.

Charlie Grimm's club runs up against league-leading Brooklyn twice today. Nothing less than a pair of victories will convince anybody except the rabid Milwaukee fans that the Braves still have a pennant chance.

The Braves, who jumped from a lackluster seventh-place outfit in Boston to dangerous contenders in Milwaukee, trail the Dodgers by 7½ games. Twin triumphs would leave them 5½ behind; a double defeat would drop them 9½ back. It's a rare season when a club can make up that much ground in seven weeks, all that's left of the 1953 campaign.

Only six games remain between the two clubs, including the doubleheader today. So far Brooklyn has won 11 out of 16, six out of seven on the Braves' own field.

The Dodgers suffered their first loss in Milwaukee yesterday, a 5-3 decision which saw the Braves come from behind in the eighth inning. Milwaukee scored twice in he seventh when a sharp grounder that looked like a sure third out bounced off Junior Gilliam's shoulder. They go three more in the eighth, two when Walker Cooper delivered a pinch hit single with the bases loaded and one more when Erv Palica walked Eddie Mathews with the bases loaded again.

Third - place Philadelphia, nine games back of Brooklyn, trimmed fourth-place St. Louis 7-3. The New York Giants, who have collapsed completely in the West, lost two more, 9-6 and 7-6 to Chicago with the second game running 10 innings. Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 6-4.

The top spots in the American League remained static with the New York Yankees still five games ahead of the Chicago White Sox. Although both won, neither the Yanks nor the Sox had easy going. New York had to come from behind to edge Detroit 5-4 while Chicago was carried 14 innings at Philadelphia before Sam Mele broke it up with a two-run homer.

Ben Flowers pitched a shutout in his first major league start for Boston, beating St. Louis 5-0. Bob Porterfield, the majors' leading whitewash artist, threw his seventh shutout and his second in a row as Washington trounced Cleveland 11-0.

Detroit outhit New York 13-10 but the Yankees made their extra base hits pay dividends while the Tigers were settling for singles. Gus Triandos, just up from Birmingham, and Billy Martin homered for New York and the winning run scored in the seventh when Yogi Berra doubled home Mickey Mantle.

Mele's winning blast was the fourth home run in the Philadelphia marathon. Gus Zernial and Ray Murray homered for the A's in the second and Ed McGhee tied the count in the eighth with a two-run blow. Billy Pierce, who came on in relief in the eighth, picked up his 14th victory.

It virtually was double or nothing in Boston. The Red Sox collected nine hits against the Browns and seven of them went for two bases each. One was a single and the other was Dick Gernert's 18th home run.

Wildness ruined Willard Schmidt's return to the big time with St. Louis. He gave the Phils only five hits in eight innings but he walked six. Bob Miller tamed the Cards after Stan Musial homered with Red Schoendienst on base in the first inning.

The Giants spotted Chicago eight runs in the first game and when they tried to catch up in the eighth inning elderly Dutch Leonard stopped them after five runs were across. In the nightcap, singles by Warren Hacker, Frank Baumholtz and Tommy Brown produced the winning run in the 10th.

RICHWOOD—The stock cars go back into action Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Richwood Speedway on the fairgrounds, with 40 to 50 drivers in the field.

Last Friday Joe Jones of Galion won the feature. In recent weeks feature wins have gone almost exclusively to Jones, Dick Decker or Dick Baughman, with others having gone to Joe Josa, Jack Hedges and Jim Church.

Down for action Friday night are Richwood favorites Warren Reece, Jim Reece and Ed Douglass along with Dick Decker, Ralph Ray, Ed Moore, Glenn Skinner, Joe Erwin and Floyd Lamb.

Friday night, Sept. 4 there will be another 300-lapper. This time it will be team event. Drivers will team up two each and 24 teams will take to the track for a faster 300-laps than the individual competition. Should a car need a pit stop, its team mate then takes over and keeps the competition going.

Batting — Sam Mele, Chicago White Sox, homered with one on in the 14th inning to give the Sox a 9-7 victory over Philadelphia.

Short Sports

By John Short

Little League baseball was handed an undeserved blast last week in a national magazine. The author, a member of the New York University faculty, labeled the program as harmful.

He says the plan has become "silly yet thoroughly dangerous madness" which has seized parents, children and program officials. Little League has ruined the entire recreation programs in many communities by concentrating on a few boys with talent, the article charged.

SHORT

Among other things the writer objected to was the possibility a youthful player might fracture a bone or contact polio during the gatherings. He also belittled the fact that the players are taught to play the game to win.

It was the first time this corner had ever heard baseball being related in any way to polio.

As for the other charges, a 10-year-old boy need not play baseball to break a leg or an arm. Newspaper reports regularly show youngsters injuring themselves riding bicycles, climbing trees and in other vigorous exercises. The other charge sounds downright silly. Any program which doesn't teach a child, or an adult, to play hard and to win isn't worth its salt.

On a local basis, the Little League has turned in a whale of a job in its two seasons. Given a definite program with adult supervision, the boys of Marion have taken to the setup like ducks to water.

Actually under the supervised program the boys are in less danger of injury than two years ago. Qualified personnel, adults interested in youth, have drilled the kids in the fundamentals of the game. Prior to the coming of Little League, the same boys were usually limping about with painful arm and leg sprains suffered while trying to slide in their amateurish way. Furthermore the latest protective equipment is furnished the players at all times.

Galion Jr. Legion Team Whips Morrow County

IBERIA—The Galion Jr. American Legion baseball team whipped Morrow County 6-2 at the Iberia School diamond Wednesday night. This was the first night baseball game held on this field. Payne was the winning pitcher for Galion but Nauman of Morrow County stole the show with 15 strikeouts.

Morrow's record now stands at 12 wins and 9 losses. Morrow meets the Marion Legion at the Morrow County Fairgrounds at Mt. Gilead Sunday in a doubleheader.

Fighter Faces Morals Charge

CHICAGO (AP) — Police seized heavyweight boxer Bob Satterfield, 29, today at his South Side home and charged him with operating a house of prostitution.

Two women also were arrested and charged with soliciting. Satterfield and the women are Negroes.

Detective Russell Burton said police were told by a tipster that they could make an appointment with women at the Satterfield residence by telephoning and giving the passwords, "Jack" and "December 1."

The detective said he and Detective Harry Iwicki were admitted to the home after giving $75 in marked currency to one of the women, Effie May Cooper, 22. The other woman seized was Jean Thompson, 24. Police said they were nabbed while giving an indecent performance.

Golfers Shoot For $75,000 In Tam Purse

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—"Top Bonanza," tournament golf's richest production, starts at Tam O'Shanter today, and a lot of cases of stage fright are expected.

The copyright name of the meet is "The World Championship of Golf." A safe bet is that a well-seasoned pro will win, a pro who won't choke up with the thought that each shot he takes in the 72 holes of competition can be worth about $90.

Tournament promoter George S. May has put up a $75,000 prize wad, enough to choke any dark horse. The winner's share is $25,000, the biggest money prize golf has to offer.

A selected field of 83 contestants will take a stab at the big melon. Sam Snead, who says his injured hands are feeling much better, is one of the main favorites. When big money is down, Snead is usually up. He proved he was ready to go prospecting by sharing second in the Tam O'Shanter All American Tournament Monday. He closed with a 68 for 278.

The All American winner, Lloyd Mangrum, with 275, may be able to repeat for the "World" title, like he did in 1948, but the pros say the odds against this are about 30-1.

Other favorites include Jack Burke, Walter Burkemo, Ed Oliver, Al Besselink and Cary Middlecoff.

After practices yesterday, Burke and Middlecoff predicted that a 72-hole total lower than 275 would be needed to cash in for first money.

Almost all of golf's big name performers, except Ben Hogan, who did not enter, are poised for the gold rush. Some 20 foreign stars add an international flavor.

Iberia Softball Team Crowned League Champions

Merchants Finish Season With Six Victories, Single Defeat

The Iberia Merchants are the 1953 champions of the Iberia Rural-Industrial Softball League. This is the league's fourth summer in conjunction with a softball program for Iberia and surrounding communities.

The Merchants, managed by Alfred Garverick, finished one game ahead of the Galion Iron Works and Galion Perfection No. 1 which tied for second place. The Merchants' record was six wins and one setback.

League games are played on the Iberia School athletic field. The field has been lighted for night games. The Thoughtful Farmers, 4-H Club, advised by M. Doyle Rusk supported the light program and made a down payment on the lighting system of $200. A booster club was then organized and since that time it has taken over the responsibility, have paid for the lights and help to keep the league running smoothly. Games are free but collections are taken at each game to help cover expenses. Ray Kidwell is the chairman of the Iberia Booster Club.

The two league commissioners are Arden Garverick and Donald Seiter. Official umpire this year is Dave Corbin, a Crestline policeman. A base umpire is chosen at each game. The league, which has been successful in its four-year existence, and the preparing of the playing field was drummed up by Dan Baker, Iberia coach, and other men interested in a program of this sort.

There are eight teams in the league. These include four from Galion, the Galion Iron Works, the Galion Gas Co. and Galion Perfection No. 1 and No. 2; two community teams from Johnsville and one from West Point and the Iberia Merchants. Two no-hit games highlighted this season's play.

To enter a team in the league an entrance fee must be paid and tryouts are given for players wishing to join clubs.

Ferris Fain Quits The 'Fight Game'

CHICAGO (AP)—Ferris Fain, the Chicago White Sox fighting first baseman, today was back in Chicago—fractured finger and all—and he announced he was "through with the fight game."

Fain's injured hand is the one which James Judge, 28, of Washington, charged cost him six teeth in a flair of fisticufs with Fain Sunday in a Maryland inn. Judge filed a $50,000 suit against Fain.

Philadelphia physicians said Fain's injury will sideline him for 10 days to three weeks. Manager Paul Richards already had fined Fain three days' pay for violation of training rules. The White Sox manager said rookie Bob Boyd will continue to play first base for the club during Fain's absence.

Fain, of course, will miss the vital four-game series between the Sox and the league-leading Yankees which opens in New York tomorrow.

FAVORS SEAT STRAPS

In a speech yesterday to the National Coroners Assn. here, Paul said the Indiana State Police are using the seat straps and find they are particularly effective in reducing the extent of injury in severe crashes.

For Summer Treat, Try Ice Cream in Baskets

Ice cream heaped high in golden-brown cookie baskets is a grand party idea. If you are planning a special summer party, you'll like this timely and colorful dessert—ice cream in baskets. The baskets are good to eat, too, and can be made in advance of party-time. It's an eye-appealing and flavor-appealing novelty dish that makes it easy to forget soaring temperatures.

ICE CREAM IN BASKETS

Ingredients: 1-3 cup maple syrup, ¼ cup butter, ½ cup sifted flour, 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 quart ice cream.

Method: Heat maple syrup to boiling point. Add butter; stir until melted. Remove from heat. Stir in flour, sugar and vanilla. Drop by tablespoonfuls on a well-greased baking sheet about 4-inches apart. Bake in a slow oven (300 F.) about 15 minute or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Allow to cool only one minute.

Carefully remove each cookie with wide spatula. Place on inverted custard cup; pinch 4 corners to shape into basket. Cool. Remove from custard cup. If cookies become too hard to shape, they may be returned to oven for a few seconds. Fill each basket with spoonfuls of your favorite flavor of ice cream. Serves six.

Homes of the Famous

1737. SHADWELL, VA. Birthplace of THOMAS JEFFERSON.

This solidly built house, with its huge chimney, has long ago passed into history but its memory, as the birthplace of Thomas Jefferson, still remains. The story is that Jefferson's father, Colonel Peter Jefferson, owned a thousand-acre farm, called Shadwell, on the north bank of the Rivanna, a little above its junction with the James River, near the then tiny village of Charlottesville. He couldn't find a spot he liked, upon which to build a house, so he persuaded a friendly neighbor to sell him 400 acres adjoining as a home site. The price paid, according to an old deed, was "Henry Weatherbourn's biggest bowl of Arrack punch." The Colonel now had 1,400 acres and in 1737, built the house in which Thomas was born. Thomas inherited the house but, while he was absent in 1770, it burned to the ground and, with it, every precious book and document in his valuable library.

New Policeman Named For Force at Crestline

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE—Jack C. Penning, ton, 30, of Crestline was appointed as a full-time patrolman on the Crestline police force at the meeting of Council Monday night. He will fill the vacancy made by the death of Philip Steretz.

Pennington has been serving as an extra patrolman on a part-time basis for several months.

Mayor Nelson Lee reported receiving $613.50 in fines and licenses. Included was $72.75 paid by parking meter violators.

Councilman Grover Weis reported he had two locations in mind for the disposal of garbage. The mayor and sewer committee were given authority to work out a contract for the lease of lands to provide Crestline with a satisfactory garbage burial.

Crestline police will use their electronic timing device in determining the speed at which motorists drive past Kelly Park, it was announced at the Council session.

15 Persons Uninjured In Two-Car Collision

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—"It was almost like one of those circus tricks," said astounded Deputy Sheriff Bob Miller of the automobile wreck call he received.

Miller, his mouth agape, counted 15 women and children, including an expectant mother and her six tots, after the collision here yesterday of a 1952 Cadillac and a 1941 Packard.

Both cars were badly damaged, Miller said, but nobody required medical attention beyond minor first aid.

Too Many Cats, Dogs, Fleas Brings on Oklahoma City Row

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Fifteen cats, a couple of dozen dogs and some three million fleas (by latest estimates) have turned the 200 block on Southeast 26th Street into a battleground.

Mrs. Ada Rowan, a rotund, 66-year-old woman with a friendly smile, was blamed for the whole thing.

Police Judge Mike Foster, at the request of irate neighbors, asked Mrs. Rowan to explain why she was harboring 15 cats in her back yard.

A neighbor testified the cats brought fleas and the fleas were not discriminatory. She claimed they feasted on the neighborhood children too.

"I own only seven cats," Mrs. Rowan testified indignantly. "Those vicious neighborhood dogs and unfriendly children have increased my cat family. Those poor little animals come to my house seeking shelter from the dogs and children. I feed them and they just stay there."

A neighbor, who has remained friendly to Mrs. Rowan, said the others are all wet.

"Those cats don't bring fleas," he protested. "Some of the neighbors have treated their dogs for fleas. They have to go some place so after leaving the dogs they move either to the cats or some other neighbor's home. That is what's causing the flea epidemic, not the cats."

Judge Foster gave Mrs. Rowan two weeks to get rid of the cats, so with the help of friends she packed them in crates for a trip to the Humane Society animal shelter.

Then, a cat-astrophe!

On the way to the shelter, two boxes containing nearly a dozen cats bounced from the truck and the animals escaped. Apprehensive neighbors are watching Mrs. Rowan's yard, remembering the old saying that cats always come back.

Leaders Should Lead

In the Governors Conference out in Seattle President Eisenhower was describing his idea of what a government executive should do besides routine administration.

He has the responsibility, in President Eisenhower's judgment, of "informing his own commonwealth, his own state about. . . major problems."

"He has the chore," said the President," of trying to inform the people . . . so they will in turn support reasonable programs nationally as well as statewide."

This is a neglected concept of public leadership. It is a concept which is controversial when practiced, as President Eisenhower discovered in his Dartmouth College speech last June, when he expressed his views on "book burning."

But it is a concept vital to the health of a republic, whose citizens rely on leadership to voice their aspirations and their views. Great damage has been done to representative government by the view that public leaders should consult their mail or measure the pressure of lobbyists to learn what they are thinking from day to day.

The duty of official leadership is to lead and to stand or fall on the widsom of its leading—to enter into conflict with other leaders whenever necessary—to stimulate public thought and discussion.

Without that kind of official leadership, a representative government represents either public confusion or apathy, depending on whether the public is being misled by bad leaders or not being led at all.

Do We Learn or Just Live?

Last May 15, Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy told an audience at Winston-Salem, N.C., what he had learned in 10 months as senior U.N. delegate to the Korean truce conferences.

"There is no substitute for the imperative logic of military pressure," he said. The only times the North Korean and Chinese delegates showed any desire to agree was when the Eighth Army in Korea was moving north, or threatening to move north.

When it was established that they had nothing further to fear, they began to stall, until by the end of the long stalemate at Panmunjom they actually held the upper hand. When the war ended, they were driving back the Eighth army.

That is the background for the beginning of negotiations to bring peace. There will be no progress without pressure. There can be no hope of progress without pressure.

Unless it is being applied in some way not clear to the American people, the Korean truce is destined to be the buildup for a letdown.

Two Details That Matter

War is an impersonal thing.

Writing of the last American GI killed in the Korea War, an Associated Press reporter said, "Available Army records listed only skimpy details of his life."

Details? These are the details that matter: He was a mother's son; he was a child of God.

No words, no gestures will fill the void left in the heart of any mother whose son was killed in Korea. War always has treated mothers thus.

Yet, perhaps, all men some day will come to respect all other men as children of God. Then all mothers will be spared the heartache of war.

The Test

The next time naked aggression occurs, the United States may be prepared to do something about it. The United Nations will be no better prepared than it was in 1950, but the United States has rearmed itself and mobilized a large fraction of its manpower.

It is prepared for the first time in its history, to defend itself against potential enemies in a world that has not gone to war. The net effect of aggression in Korea—if there is nothing else—could be put town as a warning of imminent danger from Kremlin-bossed aggression. But can the United States stay strong without the spur of casualty lists?

Even before a Korean truce has existed long enough to be taken for granted, it is plain that all of us will need to think in a new dimension if national defense is going to be maintained at a high level.

The continuous drafting of manpower and the drain of taxation to buy weapons will be resisted. There will be the usual desire "to bring the boys home" and to stand pat with weapons which were good enough when the last fighting occurred.

Three times in this century, warmakers were encouraged to start their tragic mischief because the United States was obviously unprepared: World War I, World War II and the war in Korea.

A fourth time could be averted if the people of the United States served notice on their public representatives thay they wanted to stay prepared and were willing to pay the price of averting war, if possible, and if not, of averting a military catastrophe.

New Tax Scandal

By David Lawrence

Congressional Investigations Again Prove Value

WASHINGTON

All those persons who have been denouncing congressional committee investigations and their procedures may be shocked to learn that the biggest tax scandal in recent years has just been exposed by a subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The episode happened in 1948. For more than four years, the regular departments and agencies of the executive branch of the government had every opportunity to uncover the affair and to punish anyone guilty of wrongdoing.

Why didn't they do it? Perhaps because no such information came to them as now has been furnished to the congressional committees which are investigating the tax scandals under the Truman administration.

Why wasn't such information made available? Perhaps because the Democratic National Committee headquarters was itself implicated and federal employes as a rule don't go around getting into trouble with the headquarters of the party in power.

The facts are startling: Welburn S. Mayock, who says he was counsel to the Democratic National Committee in 1948, is an attorney here with a practice in tax cases.

He was revealed on Monday before the House Committee as having been paid $65,000 in cash by William S. Lasdon, a drug manufacturer whose own attorneys had told him that they couldn't persuade the Bureau of Internal Revenue to give him a favorable ruling and that he had better abandon his efforts to derive a benefit amounting to $1,000,000 or more.

Then came a couple of New York men who steered Lasdon to Mayock in July 1948.

By September 1948 Mayock had gotten a favorable ruling through the intercession of high treasury officials.

Mayock tells with amazing frankness what he did with the money. He might have claimed immunity under the Fifth Amendment on the ground that his testimony might incriminate him—for it is evident that some of the laws relating to campaign contributions may have been violated by him. Courageously Mayock told the whole story.

Out of the $65,000, a contribution of $30,000 was given to the Democratic National campaign fund to help elect Truman.

Mayock says the party needed funds badly.

He says he knew it was illegal for an individual to donate $30,000 to a presidential campaign fund, so he arranged to split it into sums of $3,000 and he arranged for individuals to contribute equal amounts. Then he reimbursed them out of his $30,000 fund.

Actually, that's a common practice in politics. It is illegal, but seldom are the offenders caught at it because usually it occurs through gifts within one's own family.

What isn't common practice, however, is for a lawyer to take a case before the Treasury Department and then ask for payment in cash from his client for as large a sum as $65,000 so there would be no record of a transaction by check.

Also, it is not common practice for tax cases to be expedited to settlement unless some important influence is exerted.

The merits of the issues in the tax case are matters that tax lawyers or judges would have to decide. But it does seem strange that conclusions reached by the technical staff of the Bureau of Internal Revenue were reversed even though they had been accepted as probably corrte by the client's regular lawyers, who didn't see fit to take it to the U.S. tax court. They could have filed an appeal if they thought they had a good case.

Lasdon said he was told how he could get a favorable settlement, and he paid the money to the lawyer in Washington who had the influence to get something done that his own attorneys couldn't accomplish.

The whole affair smells bad. Explanations will have to be forthcoming from all who were directly or indirectly concerned.

What better way, therefore, is there to check on the operations of the executive branch of the government and its employes than by congressional committees?

That's the traditional American way, and it will be a sad day for honest government and for the welfare of the American people if the power of investigating committees is impaired either by hamstringing rules or by the sabotaging tactics of an obstructionist minority which could protect a previous administration from being investigated simply by refusing to allow the majority to function.

By TRUMAN TWILL

Nothing in years has taken more of us back to our golden days than these no-gearshift drivers who cruise along with their right arms draped over the back of the front seat.

They are exact replicas of the fast-stepping sports who used to fling their left arms carelessly over the back of the buggy seats. Look, ma, one hand—that was the idea.

Buggies, of course, were intended to be driven from a right-hand position, because that was where the whip-socket was found. Actually, it didn't matter. The horse never cared. But the driver sat on the right if he had a passenger.

If he was a real cut-up with a sailor straw held fast by a silken cord made fast to his lapel buttonhole, your old-time showoff would cock one foot on the dashboard with a clocked sock showing, plus a hint of red garter.

Or he might let one leg dangle carelessly over the side of the buggy, in a position to be cut in two like a piece of bologna if the front wheel turned.

This new attitude of nonchalance which has found favor among the look-ma-one-hand drivers is only an up-to-date version of an old one.

In all of its other versions it looked just as ridiculous.

There were the blades who used to drive Model T's with their left legs hanging out over the doors, which on the early models were dummies; they didn't open.

For a period of years there was a threat of deformity hanging over swains who invariably drove automobiles with their left elbows jutting out the window at right angles.

Nothing ever has happened to the hot-shots who prided themselves on being able to manage all engineering operations with their left hands, leaving the right hand free for romance, except that there now are fewer engineering operations.

The urge to be nonchalant has given civilization the auto driver who can do the whole job with the fingertips of one hand; the devil-may-care type who sits on the back of his neck and exults in playing the role of headless horseman of the highways; the fag-end boys who can manage a cigaret on one side of their slack-lipped mouths and a toothpick on the other; the tooth-tappers who endlessly test the enamel on their snags with the index fingers of their left hands and the most numerous of all breeds—the glassy-eyed robots who see nothing, hear nothing, and think nothing. They just sit there in utter boredom and kick up 100-odd horsepower with an indifferent toe. Annhh!

The way this all came about was because drivers wanted to prove to the world they had ceased to be impressed with what others might still think of in their naivete as mighty fancy transportation.

From fast steppers and newly varnished buggies to no-gearshift automobiles is quite a jump as such things go. But away back there, transportation began to be a one-arm business for those who were over-impressed with their own skill and under-impressed with public safety.

Oh you kid! Excuse my dust!

Decision on A-Bomb Facing President

By Michael Amrine

Eight years ago this week, at the Potsdam Conference in Germany, President Truman and his advisers — among them, Gen. Eisenhower — were deciding to drop the atomic bomb on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945.

As the anniversary nears, President Eisenhower is giving the most serious consideration to another atomic decision of world-wide importance.

On his desk are some recommendations and a complete speech suggested for a national Broadcast in which he would bring America and the world up to date on the status of the atomic-arms race.

If he decides to go ahead and make public some of the hitherto unrevealed figures on America's atomic strength, including progress made on the hydrogen bomb, it may be followed by new statements of our desire to cooperate with the U.N. and the other nations of the world in an international program for the peaceful control of atomic energy.

The ideas in the speech have been discussed by high-policy leaders for weeks, and it is known that military advisers are coming to feel that we must make public more data on what kinds of bombs we have, for we shall have soon to tell our allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization anyway.

This week Great Britain again offered a more complete exchange of information on atomic matters and hinted that it had developed significant advances in atomic bombs themselves.

In any case Britain and the continental countries should be advised of what we can deliver in their defense, and what kind of atomic weapons Russia may use on them in the event of war, many U.S. military leaders believe.

The argument for giving more atomic detail to NATO and to Britain runs that otherwise our friends may have an exaggerated idea of what we can do in defense, or, on the other hand, they may have an exaggerated fear of what Russia can do to European cities.

It is true that military information might be given to Allies without giving it to the general public.

It is further argued that civil defense, both here and abroad, is lagging, because, years after the destruction of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the average city-dweller still does not understand the realities of atomic warfare.

Besides providing civil-defense information to our own people and those of our allies, it is felt that a report on our present atomic strength would serve as a warning to Russia, and specifically to China, in the uneasy truce of the Far East.

Gordon Dean, recently retired as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, has lately said several times that it would be "tragic" if the new forces in the Kremlin should start a war out of a mistaken belief that we lacked the power to blast Russian cities and their troops with tactical atomic bombs.

He also has said that Russia must know our bomb stockpile within a margin of error of about 15 per cent — but he takes the view that we must make sure that they know it.

This is a paradoxical attitude, and one not sympathetically received on Capitol Hill, this theory that we must not let Russia depend only on her spies, but make sure to give her the basic information on our strength.

Eight years ago we had only two atomic bombs after the test at Alamogordo — Hiroshima and Nagasaki finished our "stockpile."

Out atomic weakness was kept a secret at that time, but Dean and others, including Robert Oppenheimer, scientist who headed the first bomb-making project, believe we need not and in fact should not, keep our strength secret.

As we start the ninth year since Hiroshima, there is another side to the coin, which most citizens ignore — and the President is urged to tell America and the world something about Russia's atomic strength.

If we can build the hydrogen bomb, Russia can, too.

It is argued that humanity should know when it enters the hydrogen era — it should not be plunged into it without preparation, as it was into the age of uranium.

Rep. Price of the joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy recently said that Russians have 200 atomic bombs, and Dr. Alvin C. Graves, Oppenheimer's successor at Los Alamos, N. M., said that his guess would be 200 to 500.

A study group recently advised the Pentagon that the U.S.S.R. has the capacity with aerial attack to destroy a third of U.S. industry and inflict upward of 13 million casualties.

Whether or not to make a presidential address warning citizens of these facts of life in 1953 is probably the most far-reaching decision facing the President these days.

Military Morale

By MARK DANA

Officials of the United Defense Fund, a private organization which finances the United Services Organization activities among servicemen, have announced that the Korean truce will increase, not halt, entertainment facilities for troops abroad.

This can be understood by those in military service after the end of World War II, when cessation of hostilities and a lessening of concentration on combat made service men restless. President Eisenhower, honorary chairman of the United Defense Fund, has contended that the end of the Korea fighting will be followed by a trying period when troops must remain in battle areas but with no battles going on, hence with disciplinary problems likely to become acute.

The military arms have their own special services and similar units concerned with troop morale, and chaplains are on hand to provide spiritual counsel. Yet after shooting stopped in mid-Summer 1945, ending World War II, American troops created a tremendous behavior problem in Germany, France and England. The postwar occupation of Japan likewise was marked by varied types of immorality and unsanctionable escapades by military personnel with time on their hands.

A large number of U. S. servicemen must remain in Korea as well as Japan for many months to come, chafing to return home. The United Defense Fund hopes to double the USO Camp Shows which it provides over South Korea—a fairly expensive program—and its plans properly are blessed by the Defense Department on which lies major responsibility for keeping the servicemen reasonably cheerful, and reasonably well-behaved, during this troubled time of waiting.

An Acute Shortage

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

There are just not enough boys and girls to go around for all the American families who want to adopt children.

"There are many more families, about 10 to 15 times as many, as there are children legally relinquished by their parents for adoptions, and the number of orphans is infinitesmal," Jo Evelyn Smith of the U. S. Children's Bureau, told me. Some 80,000 families each year file petitions to adopt a child.

Miss Smith, consultant on adoption, foster home and day care for children, says that adoption has become increasingly popular as more children have been placed and people see their friends happy in their new family life.

Miss Smith says that unless Congress passes pending legislation to let foreign youngsters in on a non-quota basis, families cannot hope to find a child to adopt in that field either. She says she receives many letters from people who wish to adopt children from abroad, especially American-fathered children born out of wedlock in Japan and Korea, of whom she says there are many. Current immigration laws permit only a total quota of 185 persons a year for Japan and 100 for Korea. For Germany, however, the quota is much higher and between 700 and 800 children have been adopted from there since the war, mostly by Americans stationed in that country. Greek and Italian quotas also are higher. England and Ireland have tightened their adoption laws, Ireland permitting children to go abroad only with their parents' consent and England limiting adoption to British citizens or relatives.

"Most countries are unwilling to let their children go," Miss Smith explained, "because they wish to keep the youth to strengthen and build up their own population. At any rate our new immigration laws prohibit the majority of the would-be adoptees from coming into this country.

Last year, she said, 435 "private bills" were introduced in Congress on behalf of individuals who wanted to get children in on a non-quota basis for adoption. Of these only 220 passed.

Until last year some 2,838 orphans were admitted to the U. S. on a non-quota basis under the Displaced Persons program and 200 children were brought in by the U. S. Committee for the Care of European children. Both programs have been dissolved.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Heartbreak Hill

"The war is over!" came the news that morn. . .
"The slaughter's ended. GI's celebrate."
A look of joy came on a mother's face.
The first time since the closing of a date;
A father took her gently to his arms. . .
Their silence was the ultimate in prayer;
"Thank God their boy would soon be home again." . . .
Their gratitude now filled the very air.

II

The neighbors came to say how glad they were;
The kid would presently walk up the lane;
"Well, anyhow, I'll get him back once more,"
The mother said through tears like misting rain.
Then this . . . the harrowing and dreaded note:
He would be home . . . the picket gate would close. . .
But home in death that marked the dawning truce. . .
The cruelest heartbreak that a parent knows!

Everybody realizes that each split second has money value to the airwave moguls and that programs are mechanically timed to end entertainment on the dot and go into the commercial. But few things shock listeners more than swift cuts from a spiritual mood into a blatant sales-pitch.

An outstanding instance came in Arthur Godfrey's return when he had barely concluded a touching profession of religious faith (if indeed he had finished it at all) before a swift blackout and a fast pitch for a soap, a detergent or something. It was as if ballyhoo barkers had suddenly interrupted a prayer. It made millions wince.

The damage it did to the products getting the commercials must have been terrific. You can't convince us that there is a manufacturer or sales outfit in the country that wouldn't rather have the commercial cut 15 or 20 seconds than bust into a mood of reverence. How sales-mad can you get?

Godfrey goes all out just now to acknowledge that his hospital ordeal and recovery meant a profound spiritual uplift.

Not one man in a million, known chiefly as an entertainer and jokester, could do this on any program without seeming stuffy or pretentious. But the "redhead" does it quietly, simply and with terrific sincerity.

It is doubtful if any TV program in history, or any radio program, has moved so many in quite the same way as Godfrey did when he hobbled on crutches to the pool on his Virginia farm, crawled on hands and knees to the end of a diving board, drew himself to his feet, dove into the pool and swam around for the video audience.

It was a game demonstration. And, while it moved witnesses tremendously, it was topped a moment later when he took listeners into confidence on his hip operation, told of its success (although he will be on crutches for four months more at least) and tenderly acknowledged his indebtedness to God.

He was stressing faith, the power of prayer and his own deep belief in the essential goodness of all people when the program blacked out for the sales talk.

We think these Godfrey programs topped everything he ever did. They could be called "Inside Arthur Godfrey," for they reveal much of the inner man.

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO — It was Friday, Aug. 6, 1943.

American ground troops completed the occupation of Munda, just 32 days after a beachhead was secured on New Georgia Island and five weeks after U. S. invasion forces landed on the island of Rendova June 30.

German forces were reeling backward in their first great summer retreat of the war on the Russian font as the shattering Soviet offensive that crushed Orel struck suddenly 165 miles to the south Thursday to wrest Belgorod from the Nazi invaders.

Harold D. Sherrer of 226 E. Farming St., deputy collector of internal revenue, received word from the War Department that his son, Second Lt. Richard P. Sherrer, had been missing in action in the European area since July 29. A navigator aboard one of the nation's largest types of planes, he was presumed missing on a bombing mission over occupied Europe.

A son was born in City Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Millisor of 920 Mark St.

Final plans for the huge Marion Civilian Defense show at the Marion County fairgrounds Monday night were made at a meeting of civilian defense unit chiefs at the control center on N. State St.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — It was Sunday, Aug. 6, 1933.

One person was killed and another injured in attempts to provide thrills for hundreds of spectators gathered to witness outdoor events in two communities near Marion. James Malone, 22, of Tiffin was killed when he lost control of his automobile in the qualifying round of American Legion auto races at Upper Sandusky. Paul Sens, 20, of Marion suffered a broken right leg in a parachute jump at the Galion airport in the other mishap.

It was announced that the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. would open a master store at 135-137 S. Main St. within the next month.

Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, famous French fliers, established a new long-distance non-stop flight when they landed in Syria, a distance of approximately 5,900 miles from New York, where they had taken off from 4 hours earlier.

Twenty false teeth, $50 in cash and $50 in dentist's gold were taken from the office of Dr. A. J. Wagner, dentist, at 156½ S. Main St. Entrance to the office was gained by forcing a lock, police reported.

Serpent Mound, on State Route 73 near Locust Grove in Adams County, is one of the more than 10,000 mounds and earthworks in Ohio which are relics of the prehistoric Indians commonly called the Mound Builders. This is the largest and most remarkable effigy mound in America and has been visited by archaeologists from all parts of the world. The body of the serpent is 1,330 feet long and in its open mouth is a large oval earthwork in the shape of an egg. The scenic gorge area in the 60-acre Serpent Mound park has picnic facilities that are enjoyed by thousands of visitors each season.

Inequities in Wheat Allotments Cited

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Wheat allotments given Western states contain so many inequities that farmers may turn down marketing quotas in the Aug. 14 referendum, Harvey Solberg, president of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union, asserted in messages to Colorado congressmen.

Individual Colorado farmers, he said, have had wheat package allowances cut 30 per cent, compared with 20 to 25 per cent for Montana, Nebraska and Kansas. This additional cut, Solberg said, could cost Coloradoans 10 million dollars next year.

He expressed hope that the marketing quota program would be approved and inequities corrected later.

BUCYRUS — Former members of the 37th Division Artillery Band, which was stationed in Bucyrus for many years as an Ohio National Guard Unit and which saw lengthy service in World War II, will hold their first reunion since the end of the war at the Bucyrus Gun Club, Sunday.

The band left Bucyrus and began active federal duty on Oct. 15, 1940. It was active for more than four years with members serving as both musicians and machine gunners during the campaign in the South Pacific, Dustman said. Part of the band also played at various times for USO shows.

About 40 former bandsmen are expected at the reunion, which will begin at 10 a.m.

Who Will Win The American League Championship?

Old Case, as they fondly call Mr. Casey Stengel, of the Yankees, is trying hard to win his fifth pennant. The last half of the season is on its way, and the best authorities say it's still a question as to who will win. As usual, we don't take sides, but when it comes to a good steak — the ball players favorite meal — we offer the best, day in and day out.

Tiniest Gun Possessed By Watertown Man

WATERFORD, N. Y. (UP)—The smallest gun ever made at the nearby Watervliet Arsenal is a proud possession of Col. Sidney Hammersley (ret.), who once was stationed at the famous weapons factory.

The gun is dwarfed by a man's finger tip. It's made of rolled steel, and the hammer can be pulled back and is operated by a spring. Although realistic in appearance, the gun won't shoot.

Hammersley, now the Waterford historian, said making the gun took months of his spare time.

NO MONEY HERE

GREENLAND, N. H. (UP) — Mrs. Mary E. Lane, 100 years young, is looking forward to the next "social visit" to her doctor. While observing her century anniversary, she remarked that that was the only sort of visit she ever paid him.

W. Virginia Names Reveal Humor

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UP) — The broad streak of humor in West Virginia's mountaineers comes out in the names they give places.

Pinch, the name of a small community near here, is a shortening of Pinch-Gut, which was named after some pioneers were besieged in a cave by Indians and nearly starved.

When the post office wanted to establish a branch in one mountain community, the residents got together and came up with a name they felt wouldn't be duplicated. They called their community, "Odd."

Pea Ridge was so called after farmers in the area found the bare hilltop "wouldn't raise blackeyed peas."

Hell - for - Certain Branch may have been christened by an early settler who tried to navigate the rushing mountain torrent.

Baltimore Run was named for a discontented settler who kept threatening to move to Baltimore, and never did. Bear Wallow Ridge was named for the wildlife there.

HORSE RELIEF

HIGH POINT, N. C. (UP) — Marion E. Johnson, 17, and his 14-year-old companion, seized on a charge of stealing two horses in Leesburg, Va., overheard an officer ask whether Virginia still lists horse theft as a "hanging offense." The two youths began to breathe again after another officer said "no."

Gen. Mark Clark Seeks Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Mark W. Clark said today the Reds may hold between 2,000 and 3,000 more American prisoners than the 3,313 they have said they will exchange.

The Far East commander also told a Pentagon news conference he applied today for retirement from the Army, effective Oct. 31. He said he had made no plans as to what he will dow hen he doffs his uniform after 40 years Army service.

Clark had this to say about the Korean prisoners:

1. The United Nations Command has evidence indicating the Communists hold many more prisoners who should be returned.

2. "Thousands upon thousands" of South Koreans still are unaccounted for and there "may be between 2,000 and 3,000" additional Americans in enemy prison camps.

Despondent Farmer Takes Life at Dinner

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — John Joseph Hoffman, 53-year-old tenant farmer, shot and killed himself with a .22-caliber rifle at the family dinner table last night while his wife and sons pleaded with him not to do it, state police report.

Trooper Harold Basore quoted the family as saying Hoffman had been despondent since his 50-year-old brother James killed himself last Saturday.

Crawford Fair Events Include Flight Theater

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — A feature of the Crawford County Fair this year is the Golden Year of Flight Theater, a panoramic view of Ohio's contribution to the "age of wonders," being shown every half hour each night during the five-day fair week which ends Saturday.

The theater, which is located at the center of the county fairgrounds, commemorates the 50th year of powered flight. Admission to the panorama, sponsored by the Ohio Department of Aviation, through cooperation with the Civil Air Patrol, is free.

Members of the Ohio Aviation Department were scheduled to arrive by plant today and Friday night to present a special entertainment. Much of the panoramic review has been evolved under direction of Walt Disney.

Theme of the Crawford County Fair, which opened Tuesday, is the Ohio Sesquicentennial.

Opening day of the fair, Tuesday, was hampered somewhat by intermittent thundershowers. A feature of the night's grandstand program was a golden wedding festival with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yaussey of Bucyrus being selected as the county's "golden couple." The Yausseys, who are in their 80's, have been married 65 years.

Approximately 25 couples who have been married at least 50 years were honored at the festival. Each wife was presented a corsage and her husband, a boutonniere. The Yausseys were given $50, gift of the Crawford Farm Bureau Cooperative.

Wednesday's racing card included four events, consisting of two heats and having a purse of $600. Sally Flowers and Billy Scott, Columbus television performers, were featured at the night's grandstand program.

Today's races included a two-year-old trot, three-year-old pace, 20 pace and 20 trot. Luder's Attractions and 1953 Grandstand Varieties will be tonight's grandstand feature.

END OF MOSCOW SOJOURN. muneration for the gas they used, and were an important factor in solving the case.

County Prosecutor Ralph Carhart said this morning an affidavit charging Holycross with six separate counts of arson probably will be filed either this afternoon or Friday morning in Municipal Court. Carhart is still conferring with LaMonda on the exact charges desired.

Coon was especially high in his praise of Manley who took the description given him by Tanner and was able to locate the suspect.

Officials of the three departments working on the case explained that had all details of the fire been given to newspapers and radio stations, there might have been some doubt in their minds as to the guilt of the suspect, who could have read the details and repeated them in his confession. As it is, they said, from what he has told them, they have "absolutely no doubt" as to his guilt.

Describes Method

Holycross told investigators the exact methods used in his arson attempts, Chief Coon said. These details were known only to the three men working on the inside of the case, and to the person who set the fires, the chief said.

All the fires in the outbreak were set on the west end of town. Yesterday's attempted fire caused no damage.

Today's arrest clears Herman Dale Sharrock, 39, of 663½ W. Center St. of any suspicion of being connected with the major fires, police said. Sharrock was arrested July 31 and charged with attempting to set fire to an apartment building over the V and S Bar and Grill on July 21 and 29.

At the time of his arrest, authorities were trying to determine if Sharock was responsible for the earlier fires. He was taken to police headquarters and underwent two days of questioning before the charges of attempted arson were filed. He pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court. He waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to the county grand jury.

Play Oklahoma First

The Irish begin their campaign at Norman, Okla., against University of Oklahoma and Leahy is dreading the day. Last year, the Sooners were one of three conference champions whipped by Notre Dame and the Irish coach fears they will be out for blood.

The Irish escape playing Michigan State this year. Georgia Tech has replaced the Spartans but Leahy says that doesn't help his boys too much. His team, "which probably won't make as much as a first down," should lose all 10 games, he tells his listeners with a straight face.

Leahy went on record as being opposed to the no substitution rule in effect in collegiate football this fall. "It won't help one team any more than another," he said. "But I'm not in favor of it." The new rule will mean a deterioration in college football, he said.

Every Boy Should Have Chance

"If football is good for a boy then every boy should get the chance to derive the benefits of the game," Leahy believes. Under the new rule only a few boys will be considered by the coaching staff. The small boys, formerly used as placekickers and other spots, probably will be out of a job. Under the platoon system, Leahy says injuries were fewer than they will be now. Practice sessions will be lengethened and will keep gridders from their studies longer, he added.

As Leahy boarded the plane for the flight to Washington, a persons standing near by wished his grid team a lot of luck.

"We'll need it," he replied. This time a slight smile creased his face as he entered the plane.

Ike To Report Tonight On His Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower gives a radio report to the nation tonight on the work of Congress and his administration so far. His 8:30 to 9 p. m., EST, broadcast will be carried by the four major networks.

HEROIC MOTHER. Eager hands lift a heroic mother, Mrs. Thelma Eshleman, from a 45-foot well into which she leaped at Greenville, S. C., to save her 19-month-old son when he fell through an opening. Mrs. Eshleman and the child spent 15 minutes in four feet of water before they were rescued by firemen.

Led to Success

Pleasing Wife Pays, Chemist Finds

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—All most husbands feel they get for trying to please their wives is exercise—and maybe a kind word.

But the reward of Paul Charlap, a 28-year-old chemist, was fame and financial success. It was by trying to please his wife that Charlap developed Nylast, a chemical substance that increases the snag-resistance of nylon stockings and adds to their wearing quality.

The Charlap success saga is the kind of young - love - conquers - all story that Hollywood would reject as to true to life to make a good movie.

Back in 1949, while caring for their infant son, "Cookie" Charlap snagged her stocking and complained to Paul:

"If you know so much about chemistry, why can't you do something to make my hosiery last longer?"

"Being as it's your wife, you don't ordinarily pay any attention to a remark like that," Paul recalled. "But that night she showed me that she was spending $4 to $5 a week for hosiery — and that kind of woke me up."

Paul checked with the Du Pont Company chemists and found they had a substance which helped protect nylon from snagging during the manufacturing process.

"Why couldn't a housewife use it?" he asked. He was told it was impractical—too high a temperature was required, and the substance washed away in soap and water.

But Charlap wasn't satisfied. He took some of the substance home, set up a laboratory in his basement. After 18 months in which he devoted every spare hour to the problem, Paul came up from the basement one day and said confidently:

"I've got it!"

He had developed a chemical solution that put a protective coating on stockings. But first the stockings had to be washed and then thoroughly rinsed twice. Cookie found that was so much trouble that after a few weeks she quit using it.

"You're just to lazy," Paul accused her.

"Nope, too busy," she said. "A woman with two children doesn't have that much time to spend on her stockings every night. Why don't you combine the chemical solution with soap? Then I could wash my stocking and put the protective coating on them at the same time."

Great idea. Wonderfully simple. Who would have thought of it but a busy housewife?

"The only trouble was that the basic ingredient and soap were antagonistic — like oil and water," said Paul. But he set out again to please his wife.

"If you really want this stuf," he told Cookie "you're going to have to do most of the work. I have to earn you a living."

So they tested more than 200 soaps, detergents and other cleaning agents in their basement laboratory before finding one that might work. The stewing chemical mixture was kept at a constant temperature with a thermostat from the family's fish tank.

When their supply of test tubes was broken, Cookie came up with the answer — the baby's nursing bottles. A home-made agitator that Paul had built broke down. Cookie met that crisis by turning on the washing machine and putting the mixture on top of it.

"That was clever of her," said Paul.

"Oh, a woman can do more with a hairpin than a man can with a whole box of tools," said Cookie airily.

"It took us a year to solve the problem," said Paul. "Cookie had to go up and down those basement stairs 25 times a day to see that everything was going right."

Paul still thought of his product only as something to please his wife and her friends. Cookie had to prod him into taking to a merchandising firm. This firm lab tested it for six months, had 1,000 women try it out — then put it on the market.

The Charlaps are still dazed at what happened. Some two million dollars worth of the nylast solution was sold in the first few months. The firm expects to to mushroom into a 10 million a year business. The royalties assure Paul and Cookie of a fortune.

"I want to buy an airplane," said Paul.

"You can have a boat—not an airplane," said Cookie, adding:

"He is already driving me crazy asking me to think up another idea to keep him busy."

"Yes, the problem is to find a problem," said Paul "I guess I don't have a very original mind. But if somebody presents me a problem, then I can attack it."

for when he gets home. Oh, it'll be beefsteak . . . you know what young fellows like."

Pfc. Ludwig's father, Anthony J. Ludwig, contacted at the tool company where he works as a night watchman, said:

"I'm so happy I don't know whether to laugh or cry."

Ludwig, a veteran of World War I, was concerned about his son's physical condition.

"I've heard about those reports of tuberculosis," he said. "I'm going to be a little suspicious about his condition until I see him with my own eyes."

Young Ludwig left to join the Army on his 17th birthday, Nov. 17, 1950. He was wounded once before being captured.

His family promised to have "a real shindig" for him when he returns.

Longtail Shrew A Fast Breather

MADISON, Wis., (INS) — Accurate measurements of the heart beat and respiration of the smallest living mammal, the longtail shrew, were obtained for the first time by three University of Wisconsin zoologists, who found the animal breathes at the phenomenal rate of 800 times a minute.

The zoologists, Dr. Peter R. Morrison, Dr. Fred Ryser and Dr. Albert R. Dawe, recorded the shrew's respiration by using a strain gauge, the same instrument which engineer's use to measure how much a steel beam bends under pressure.

The gauge was held against the shrew in such a way that it recorded the breathing movement of the tiny body.

By using four small electrodes under the shrew's feet, the zoologists obtained electrocardiograms and found that the heart of the little creature raced along at between 500 and 1,300 beats a minute.

The zoologists reported that the shrew also has the fastest metabolism of any mammal, buring up three times its weight in food each day.

The scientists pointed out it is unusual for an animal to have a slower heart beat than respiration rate, adding that in man the heart beats five times for every breath taken.

The shrew is one-eighth the size of a mouse, and weighs about the same as a penny. It is found everywhere in North America, preferring deep grass in meadows and marshland, but it is seldom seen because of its timidity. The animal is difficult to keep in captivity.

OTHER WORDS?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—A motorist recently flagged down the Illinois Central's streamliner "City of New Orleans" and asked the train crew to pull his car out of the ditch. One of the words of reply from the conductor was "no."

Atrocities

two terrible months of the bitter winter of 1950-51.

In April, the POWs told and retold horror stories which circulated in the camps.

The accounts were grimly accented by the sight of pitiful, broken wrecks of men who made up part of today's 392 returnees. Some could hardly walk. Others were terribly emaciated. One, a South Korean, was delivered dead.

Some of the returning Americans were in excellent condition. But in general, they were worse than the British, though not in as desperate shape as the South Koreans.

U. S. and other airmen appeared to be special targets of Red brutality, probably a reprisal for deadly Allied bombings and strafings, Allied officers said.

A Negro B29 co-pilot, Lt. Samuel E. Massinberg of Detroit, said he got four days of continuous torture and starvation from the North Koreans, followed bya special effort to woo him to communism "because of my race."

"I understand communism better now. I hate it more," he said. "They butted me around, they slugged me, they gave me no food for four days. When they saw I would not give them the information they wanted, they turned me over to the Chinese to fatten me up."

Massinberg's hands were frostbitten after he bailed out over Pyongyang when a Red MIG jet shot down his B29 last Jan. 11. The Reds bound them tightly, he said. "They hurt terribly all the time and I lost part of the left one."

The returning prisoners presented grim evidence that some of the thousands of missing Americans never will return.

Shung Keum Shoon, a 25-year-old emaciated South Korean, told of seeing North Korean Reds beat seven Americans so severely with rifle butts that five died within a few hours.

Cpl. Russell P. James of Auburn, Wash., told of grisly burial details in the bitter winter of 1950-51 in the notorious mining camp that prisoners called "Death Valley."

"We buried 25 to 30 men practically every day. We had no medical treatment at all and all we got to eat then was a little bit of millet every day."

Later things improved and James added sarcastically, "Then we got beans and rice on weekdays and chicken and photographers on holidays. The photographers took pictures of us eating chicken."

With tears of emotion in his eyes, S. Sgt. Robert M. Wilkins of Detroit, an airman shot down in a B26 last January, told of being thrown into a "black hole" and tortured after he and several others escaped momentarily and were recaptured.

He said a British and an American officer died in the ordeal.

"We were tossed into a dungeon," he said. "I'm not kidding you—we had to lie two deep it was so crowded there. And there was an inch or two of water on the floor."

Later, he said, guards "took us into a room and tied us so that we couldn't move." He said they were forced to kneel with a stick tied behind their knees, their arms drawn up behind them and tied to the ceiling and a choke rope tied around their throats.

Three Marines captured in fairly recent fighting told similar stories of treatment that was "not good—but not too bad."

They said they were given tasteless but sufficient food and simple but adequate medical care btyhier but adequate medical care by their Chinese captors. one was particularly mistreated, they said, but all were anxious to resume their normal diets.

"A sirloin steak would sure look good, men," said Cpl. Gatherine Kennedy Jr., Detroit.

Pfc. Bernard R. Hollinger, Lebanon, Pa., and Pfc. Francis E. Kohus Jr., Norwood, Ohio, agreed. Kennedy was captured on New Year's Eve, 1952, Kohus on Oct. 27, 1952, and Hollinger March 26, 1953, in the bitter fighting near the Western Front Outpost Vegas.

No Contest, but Town Has Election Anyway

LAKE, Miss. (UP) — When no one came out against the incumbents here, the city administration technically and legally was re-elected without the necessity of holding an election.

But Mayor Armistead Street decided the democratic process must not be denied, so, with members of the city democratic executive committee, he typed 120 ballots with ample space for write-ins.

Forty citizens voted and the incumbents were returned to office unanimously.

in the second day's exchange was Lt. Col. Thomas D. Harrison, highest ranking U. S. officer yet to return. The 32-year-old Clovis, N. M., fighter-bomber pilot is a second cousin of Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, who helped negotiate the armistice with the Communists.

Others told of the chill early days of the war, when Allied troops died in the far north, cold, hungry and beaten.

Their stories of Red savagery were emphasized by a new Army censorship rule that permits a returning prisoner to tell only what he has seen first hand.

Maj. John C. Harlan, 48, of Institute, W. Va., told newsmen he knew of U. S. officers the Reds have tried and are trying on charges of "obstructing the peace." Harlan returned Wednesday.

His story backed up that of Maj. John Daujat of Richmond, Calif., who told newsmen Tuesday the Reds had sentenced some "high-ranking" American officers to prison only two days before the exchange for "instigating against peace."

Blind Graduate Wants to Help

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UP) — Cue M. Canterbury, 25, blind from birth, wants to give help—not receive it.

Canterbury graduated recently from Morris Harvey College with a bachelor's degree in social science. The ministry is his aim.

Morris Harvey, a small college, provides no special aids for the blind. Canterbury had to rely mostly on his memory to make above-average grades.

"If the blind are going to compete with others in life, they must get ready for it in school," he said.

That was why he left the state school for the deaf and blind and took his senior year in high school at nearby Clendenin.

At Morris Harvey, he got around campus without a seeing-eye dog. His toughest courses were philosophy and geometry, the latter because of the need for visualizing figures.

"I sarted to study law," said Canterbury "but as things went on I decided that the world's ills are spiritual, not legal — so I changed my field."

He plans to enter a Methodist seminary after a year of practice in the pulpit.

and decides to pay the ticket rather than appear in court then refuses to present his driver's license he is automatically placed under arrest for appearance in court.

This rule is placed into effect so that proper notation of arrests for traffic law violations may be made on the back of the driver's license in accordance with state law, Coon explained.

New also to the traffic tickets is a penalty for jay-walking. Marion, previous to adoption of the new code, had no jay-walking ordinance. Penalty for this violation is $3.

Ticket Fines

Other ticket fines for moving violations are as follows: Following to close to emergency vehicles or parking near fires, $5; Driving between funeral cars, $10; disobeying traffic control devices, $5; disobeying flashing signals, $5; making "U" turns between intersections, $5; failure to observe stop signs at intersection, $5; failure to give right of way to emergency vehicle, $10; interfering with or obstructing the view of driver or his control of vehicle, $5; illegal riding on a motor vehicle, $5; and violation of no parking, stopping, or standing zones, $1.

General restrictions on parking include 21 classifications calling for payment of a $1 fine.

Exceptions to this are provisions that overtime parking either on a meter or in limited parking zones may be paid within an hour at a cost of only 25 cents. Previously only meter violations were subject to this rule. Those who parked overtime in limited zones outside the meter zones were required to pay a dollar.

Chief Coon pointed out that those who park in the meter zone on the south side of Church St. from 3 to 6 p.m. will be required to pay the dollar fine.

He also noted that the issuance of a citation rather than arrest of motorists on the more serious moving violations has no bearing on the case in Municipal Court. In either case, appearance before the court for a hearing is required he said.

IKE TO TAKE VACATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will leave Saturday morning by plane for Denver, Colo. to spend a vacation of at least three weeks. Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany him.

"My son's a successful businessman at fifteen!"

He has his own newspaper route! And, what's more, he's getting the kind of training that helped so many of our most successful businessmen. He's learning the basic principles of good business: salesmanship, management, service and handling of money. All this helps him to better appreciate the importance of his classroom studies; and the fact that so many families depend on him for their news also gives him a sense of pride and responsibility. So is it any wonder I'm proud of my son?

The Marion Star offers your boy the opportunities of a newspaper route . . . a business of his own.

James Roosevelt Is Mum on Separation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Roosevelt, asked about published reports that he and his wife are planning a separation, said yesterday: "I have the same answer to all questions concerning this matter, namely: 'No comment.'"

Mrs. Roosevelt, the former Romelie Theresa Schneider, a nurse, attended the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's eldest son when he was a Marine colonel confined by illness to the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., in 1938. Married in 1941, they have three children. Roosevelt has two daughters by the former Betsy Cushing, who divorced him in 1940.

Convicts' Paper Plugs For Better Mess Hall

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina Central Prison's newspaper, the Inner World, has launched an editorial campaign for mess hall improvements—with a hint that the convicts will compromise if necessary.

The paper called for coffee with cream and sugar, if only in the mornings; pepper, even if mixed with salt; bigger evening meals, if only soup, cheese and pressed meat; ice tea, if only once a day.

The Inner World also thought prisoners should be able to take all they can eat because "very few reasonably intelligent people will deliberately waste food."

U.S. Casualties Of Korean War Reach 141,705

WASHINGTON (AP) — Announced U. S. battle casualties reached 141,705 today in the fighting that ceased in Korea nine days ago.

The new total was 1,159 more than was reported last week.

Today's figures were based on the number of notifications sent to families through last Friday.

Although the cut-off date of the weekly summary came four days after the cease fire went into effect, the Pentagon noted the new total did not necessarily include all of those killed, wounded or believed to be missing before the armistice.

A spokesman said there would be at least one more casualty summary and that it was possible belated reports from the now silent battle front would prompt the issuance of additional summaries.

Virginia Town Has Troubles With Water

BURKEVILLE, Va. (AP) — Residents of this town in Southside Virginia know now it wasn't the dry weather that caused their water shortage.

After the Army had hauled water here for three days, the reason for the lack of water was discovered: The town's water pumps weren't working.

But that wasn't the end. The pumps were restored to duty, but somebody left the filter apparatus turned on so that the resultant water contained 7 per cent chlorine. It even bleached clothes washed in it.

Everything was fixed yesterday and things returned to normal.

No Pockets Tough Problem for Nudists

CAJON PASS, Calif. (AP) — The most pressing problem of nudists meeting here is how to get along without pockets.

Mervin Mounce of Spokane, Wash., president of the American Sunbathing Association, announced yesterday a contest to determine the best solution. A prize will be awarded Sunday at the association's 22nd annual convention.

Mounce also announced a nationwide drive for used clothing. But not for the nudists themselves. They want to distribute it to the needy.

Pretty School Teacher Beats Speeding Charge

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — "I couldn't have been speeding, judge. My hair didn't get mussed up."

That was the defense Patricia A. Bull, a pretty, 26-year-old school teacher put up in traffic court yesterday when she appeared on a charge of exceeding the city speed limit of 25 miles an hour.

Miss Bull, of nearby Oswego, told Judge Truman H. Preston she'd made numerous tests with the top down on her convertible. When she stayed under 25, she said, her hair stayed in place. Over 25, she told the judge, her hair got wind-blown.

And since, she concluded, her hair wasn't mussed on July 25, she couldn't have been going 35 miles an hour, as charged.

Preston's verdict: innocent.

Chamber Secretary Gets Strange Request

CUSHING, Okla. (AP) — Allen D. Fitchett, secretary-manger of the Cushing Chamber of Commerce, received a strange request from a Colorado woman. It was for an item she had seen on sale here.

"I hate to be such a bother," she wrote, "but I simply have been unable to find the brand of brassiere I want out here. It's the new inflated kind."

Fitchett's daughter easily located the article and the store mailed it to the Colorado customer.

"I am sure the woman will be elated," said the secretary—or at least inflated.

Probe of Labor Unions Slated By Sen. Butler

Red-Dominated Groups Scheduled For Inquiry in Fall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for a sweeping investigation of Communist influences in labor unions were laid down today by Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md), head of a special task force of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"Our unions must be free of the slightest taint of communism," Butler said in an interview.

"We can't save this country if we can't keep Communists out of unions, especially out of positions of authority."

Butler and Senators Welker (R-Idaho) and McCarran (D-Nev) were named by the internal security subcommittee, a panel of the Judiciary Committee, to run the investigation, with Butler as chairman.

The hearings, scheduled in the fall, will be held in Washington. Called to give their views, Butler said, will be top CIO and AFL officials, including AFL President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther.

Butler said he will also call officers of unions kicked out of the CIO in 1949 and 1950 for alleged Communist domination.

He said he will pay special attention to testimony from "rank and file union members who have had the opportunity to observe what goes on in Communist-dominated unions."

He named these unions as certain to get a summons from his task force: the American Communications Assn.; United Eelectrical Workers; Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and Harry Bridges' West Coast longshoremens union—all independent outfits and all expelled from the CIO.

Aim To Suit Women's Taste

Manufacturers Design With Eye on Sex Appeal

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Sex appeal is rearing its head in more industries.

Take cameras. You expect sex appeal in the women's wear industry. But in cameras?

Yet a camera maker says the picture-taking equipment of tomorrow will "radiate sex appeal." What Dudley J. Scholten, vice president of Argus Cameras in Ann Arbor, Mich., means is it will have more appeal for a certain sex—the female of the species.

He insists women are taking over from men the say-so in the purchase and use of the family camera. So? So cameras are being more smartly styled, made lighter and easier to use.

Auto makers some time ago adapted this kind of sex appeal and started dolling up cars to suit feminine tastes—and driving peculiarities.

Most camera makers, says Scholten, are now appealing to the same dominant sex: "Instructions easier to follow than a cookbook, dials simpler to adjust than a stove, easier to hold and use than an iron. Way things are going, we may be putting lace on them next."

Or, take air - conditioners. Makers are now stressing what the furnishing trade calls "decorators colors." Doesn't make them cooler, but it does appeal to the little woman's idea of how your room should look.

Men are getting in on it too. Westinghouse reports it's installing $150,000 worth of airconditioning in the royal palace of the crown prince of Saudi Arabia.

Sex appeal gains ground in the men's wear industry also. An increasing number of men seem to feel that wearing a fancy vest makes them look like Casanova.

The idea may be back-firing a little in the spreading practice of men wearing walking shorts. It makes most men look like—well, what?

Men are also going in for gay colors and patterns in cummerbunds and ties to be worn with formals—"to look distinctive rather than just like one in a covey of penguins." This is on authority of Morris Rudofker, vice president of S. Rudofker's Sons, a leading maker of men's formal wear.

"Men like to dress up," he insists. Tuxedo sales are so brisk the firm has expanded production facilities by 50 per cent in the last 10 months.

To boost style interest among men the men's wear-inter-industry council is circulating reports on style trends in men's and boys' clothing, with a supplement on "women's fashions men admire."

Ship Is Seized By Nationalists

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Nationalist naval headquarters said today the 9,260-ton steamer Marilu, of Czechoslovakian registry, was intercepted off the Red China coast last Friday and taken to the Formosa port of Keelung.

(Available shipping guides do not list any ship by the name of Marilu nor any vessels operating under the Czech flag.)

Press dispatches from Keelung said the freighter, carrying 7,000 tons of iron ore and 1,000 tons of silk, was bound for Europe from the Communist Chinese port of Tsingtao.

The reports said the vessel, captained and manned mostly by Italians, was seized by seaborne Nationalist guerrillas near Nanjih Island in the Formosa channel.

Taft's Life in Pictures (No. 5)

Work and Play

LABOR LEGISLATION was entrusted by the Senate to Taft and by the House of Representatives to then Congressman Fred Hartley Jr. (left), of New Jersey. Taft drafted the Senate bill and the Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947 is popularly known as the Taft-Hartley Act.

Two Boys, 16, Injured in Traffic Crash

Both Thrown From Motor Scooter After Striking Automobile

Two 16-year-old Marion boys were injured in a motor scooter-car collision, one of four accidents investigated Wednesday by city police and state highway patrolmen.

Richard Brown, 16, 180 Nye St. and Lawrence Cornelius, 16, 364½ S. Prospect St., suffered shock Wednesday when Brown's motor scooter ran into the back of a car driven by Robert E. Hoch, 57, 330 Owens St. and the boys were thrown from the scooter.

Police said the scooter hit the Hoch car, which it was following, when Hoch slowed down to avoid hitting city employes removing fallen tree branches from the street. The car and scooter were moving east on Columbia St. In the collision, Brown was thrown into the windshield of a car driven by Nancy Jo Kuhbander of Dayton, going west on Columbia. Cornelius fell to the right out of the path of the automobile.

The boys were taken to Marion City Hospital in a Boyd ambulance. Brown is reported fairly good and Cornelius in good condition today.

A truck driven by L. E. Smothers, 62, of near Marion, caused minor damage to two parked cars when it hit them in the process of letting another car pass on S. State St. Wednesday afternoon, police reported. The cars were those of Mrs. John K. Bartram, 423 Forest St. and Mrs. William Sanders, 167 Clover Ave.

State patrolmen investigated two accidents on area highways Wednesday, one which involved a car driven by Elizabeth Andor, 51, of Long Island, N. Y., on U. S. 30-N, five miles east of Bucyrus at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday. The Andor car swerved off the highway on the right side and overturned in a ditch, causing extensive damage to the car. The driver escaped uninjured. A wrecker from Bucyrus was called.

In the second mishap, on Route 30-N, two and one-half miles east of Oceola, at 8:40 a.m., cars driven by George Armbuster, 21, of near Bucyrus, William Jones, 44, of Chicago, Ill., and Wayne E. Stansberry, 19, of near Upper Sandusky, collided. The three cars were headed west along the road when the Armbuster car stopped to make a left turn. Stansberry was unable to stop his auto in time and rammed into the rear of the Jones car, sending it into the back of the Armbuster vehicle. None of the drivers was injured. Wreckers were called from Bucyrus to tow away the cars.

Stansberry was arrested for unsafe operation and was cited to appear today before Mayor Frank P. Sitler at Bucyrus.

Note on Germany Hints Russians on Defensive

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the state of men's minds could always be read from what they wrote, it might seem the Russians were unsure of themselves in their note this week on the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

But, since they've made a practice of doubletalk, the note's purpose was probably to confuse, not enlighten. The State Department is trying now to decide what it means.

The Russians have controlled East Germany completely for the eight years since World War II. That would seem time enough to crush the East Germans' spirit and discipline them under communism if they could not be won over to it.

At the end of the eight years, the East Germans—through riots, defiance in accepting American food, and desertions from the police and Army—have demonstrated neither discipline nor love.

This might be enough to shake some of the Russians' confidence in themselves, particularly since they're trying to feel their way under a new regime at home.

The Russians have consistently brushed aside suggestions by this country and its big Western allies that East and West Germany be allowed to hold free elections for a single German government.

With the hatred expressed by the East Germans in recent weeks, the Russians must feel even less inclination than ever to permit them to unite with the West Germans whose present government is pro-Western. It seems impossible that the Communists would consent to free German elections or unification in the foreseeable future.

The United States has repeatedly urged the Russians to agree on those two points until this summer. The last time the State Department made the proposal was in September 1952. The Russians never answered.

But in July, Secretary of State Dulles met here with the foreign ministers of Britain and France. On July 15 they sent the Russians a note suggesting that they and the Russian foreign minister meet to consider German unification and free elections.

The Western Powers could hardly lose with such a note, even if the Russians didn't answer. The proposal at least might win support for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in the West German elections of Sept. 6.

Adenauer has worked with the Western nations and it would be to their benefit for him to win. He has run into some intense opposition in Western Germany, which might indicate something else not at all visible now:

That if Germany ever did get reunited it might not tie up with either camp for a long time but try to play off the West against Russia, or the other way around, strictly for the good of Germany.

Tuesday night Russia responded to the Western proposal with a vague and rambling note which indicated — or so it seemed—that their foreign minister would talk about Germany with the other three foreign ministers.

But the Russians thoroughly scrambled up the business by inserting insistence that the Communist Chinese must sit in on possible discussions about easing world tensions.

The only purpose of the Russian note, probably is to make them look good, or at least not stubbornly bad, in the eyes of the East Germans. The foreign ministers' conference, if and when it started, could be booby-trapped with so much mumbo-jumbo about China that it would have to break up in despair.

In their note, in an almost self-conscious and defensive way, the Russians warned the West not to get too hopeful that the Communists were losing their grip on East Germany just because there had been some trouble there.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

In 1947, I believe it was, Robert and Martha Taft came up to my farm in the Berkshires on their way to Murray Bay. We got into the usual discussion of his candidacy for the presidency.

SOKOLSKY

I laid it on the line honestly, pulling no punches, covering no facts by the politenesses of hospitality.

The essence of my statement was that he refused to do anything to recognize the lust of the populace for glamorous personalities, the preferences of many for expediencies rather than for adherence to moral principles.

I cited example after example of his avoidance of political expediencies that would have made it possible to reach the White House and then he could do as he pleased.

I said to him then that his opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, is a master of temporizing.

Taft exploded in anger. "I will not do it! I will not do it!" he shouted. "When I am wrong, I admit it. When I make a mistake, I say so out in public. But I shall not cheapen myself for any office."

HE NEVER did. It is astonishing how often the opportunity was offered Taft to make the kind of compromise that gets a man ahead but soils his soul.

That is why the businessmen turned from Taft to Eisenhower in 1951, when they made excursions to Paris to look over the new man that Thomas E. Dewey had brought into the arena. They said that Taft was mulish.

I remember having quite a row one night with a group of big industrialists, some of whom are now whispering, "Ike isn't what we thought he was."

Of course, he is not; nobody could be. These businessmen who financed the effort against Taft for the 1952 convention wanted a president who would be their president, their man.

They dislike independence, and Taft was nobody's foreman.

In spite of the fact that Bob Taft and Harry Byrd had saved the necks of these businessmen dozens of times, they turned on Taft.

THEIR EXCUSE was that he could not be elected. Dewey had had two chances and was defeated both times.

What was really feared was not that Taft could not be elected but that he would be absolutely independent. That is why they called him "mulish."

His knowledge was so immense, his memory of fact and statistic so sure that when many of these businessmen and their lawyers tried to argue with him, they sounded like children in the presence of a great teacher. They did not like that.

When, during the 1952 convention, man after man who had been pledged to him had to change his position for personal reasons, Taft seemed always to understand that some men put bread and butter above convictions; there was no bitterness, no rancour, no recriminations.

When some who had supported his campaign deserted him, he assumed that men of expediency would always follow the rising star.

-:-

BOB TAFT never for a moment tolerated bigotry of any kind.

Some of his friends would tell him that the Jews of this country supported Roosevelt; yet he, Bob Taft, had been pro-Zionist since his youth.

He told me that his support or opposition to movements had to be unrelated to personal advantage.

He was deeply impressed by the fact that his father had abrogated a treaty with Russia because of the persecution of the Jews. Thus, the Jewish question came early into his life.

He took his stand on a Jewish homeland in Palestine before he entered politics.

His objectivity proved costly to Taft as a politician. His protest against the Nuremberg trials paved the way for opponents to attack him and smear his reputation. Yet, he knew that he was right and events have proved his position to have been right.

-:-

SIMILARLY, many of his early assumptions concerning four foreign policy have since proved to have been correct.

Logic is not too highly prized in politics and the logical person is often not the most popular man. Bob Taft never tried to become popular at the price of logic.

Yet those who knew him intimately stuck by him through every defeat.

In the formation of the Republican - Southern Democratic coalition, he displaed the highest qualities of statesmanship, for without it, the Congress might have fallen into the pitfalls of a one - party operation.

Uhrichsville Airman Hurt in Crash of C45

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Utah (AP)—Airman C. E. Preston of Uhrichsville, Ohio, was one of four airmen injured when a C45 from Larson Air Force Base, Wash., crashed and burned Tuesday.

Two Air Force officers were killed in the crash. Preston suffered burns which were described as non-critical and is expected to leave the hospital in a few weeks.

Gallantry in Action Wins Ohioan DSC

SEOUL (AP)—Sgt. 1.C. Russell L. Huffman of East Palestine, Ohio, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism and gallantry during the last year of the Korean War while a member of the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team.

Huffman's citation said he refused to leave his squad despite serious wounds in the head, neck, hand and thigh and successfully rallied his men to hold an outpost near Kumwha.

DIES IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND (AP)—Funeral services will be Saturday for John T. Feighan, president of the Standard Brewing Co., a vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., and father of Congressman Michael A. Feighan. Feighan died yesterday at 77.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

MUNICH, Germany

Each morning several groups of men gather in a well-guarded, rambling low white building in the "English Garden" sector of this capital of American occupation, and prove that you can knock Soviet jet MIGs out of the air and paralyze Stalin tanks without firing a bullet.

RIESEL

These men are the propaganda scientists of Radio Free Europe. I sat in with their top strategists as we went from the Polish to the Czech and the Hungarian propaganda-war desks, where each day's assault was skillfully planned. So skillfully, in fact, that we heard the technicians report that the Soviet brass was bitter over our ability to reach as far east as towns the other side of Prague with damaging propaganda.

But it seemed to me that the time had come for Washington to bolster these experts with specific actions — the dropping of guns, small arms and explosives behind the Curtain right now. It may soon be too late.

SOVIET POLICE power will consolidate itself soon enough and the free world will have lost its chance to cripple the Soviet satellites.

Not until you get up close to the East-West border can you conceive what this means. Here you can look into Czechoslovakia and learn from Radio Free Europe intelligence sources that Czech peasant children are so hungry they have been observed in the fields stealing milk directly from pasturing cows — because every pint drawn off by their farmer - parents must be shipped immediately to the Soviets.

Here you learn that Czech peasants "sow by day and harvest by night." They must "steal" their own potatoes from the field so they can eat before the official crop is sent intact to Russia.

THE VOICE of Radio Free Europe says in many tongues to regional Communist officials and local police: — "Don't be strict with the farm workers. Make it possible for them to feed themselves and keep alive on what they raise with their own hands."

Here you learn the real reason for the Soviet 'currency reforms." So many of us have tried to explain them with profound economic theories. These theories are nonsense.

The "monetary reforms" are the most devilish form of modern cruelty a total state has invented this side of genocide.

The "reforms" which were put into effect in Czechoslovakia last June 1, for example, simply wiped out the workers' savings and slashed their wages, and so forced them to send their wives and youngsters to work to help earn food for the house.

-:-

THE RUSSIANS are short of manpower. So they want "woman and children" power. It's that simple.

The Soviets know that so long as a skilled Czech worker has some savings in the bank he will not ask his wife or growing children to go into a factory.

Some women and children replaced men. And the men were available for the famed Skoda munitions plants and other war installations.

Specifically, the Czechs now produce the internationally famous jet motor for the Russian MIG fighter planes, also the Russians' best tanks, airplane tools, and electrical equipment.

The Soviets now have the men, and sometimes women, to dig iron ore, which is of low grade, but is vital because the Swedes have refused to send Russia their high content ore.

Result is that the Russians, to get their MIGs and tanks, must import ore from China, Pakistan and other Oriental areas.

-:-

THIS PUTS a terrific strain on the entire Soviet economy. Especially the railroads and the coal mines, for it takes them five times as much coal to produce material out of poor iron ore as it takes us out of good ore.

The Russians have no gasoline for this Herculean job. So they make synthetic gas and thus waste more millions of tons of coal in this process.

They therefore must use terrific amounts of electric power. So they simply shut off electricity from Czech homes during the winter months.

The Czechs' children grow colder and hungrier while their fathers grow more desperate. There were Czech riots before thre were East German uprisings.

AND HERE Radio Free Europe says to the Czechs each day—organize new unions. Wait and take heart. America is with you. You are not abandoned.

But now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of those who hate The Party.

Washington must prove with concrete actions that we have not abandoned our friends just a few miles from here in that dark curtained world!

Diets Pause

By Inez Robb

Pass the biscuits, pappy! And while you are about it, daddy, hand around the french fries, the cream gravy, the butter and jelly, mom's chocolate cake, the ice cream, the rice pudding, the apple pie a la mode and the whipped cream with the cherry on top.

INEZ ROBB

The Atomic Energy Commission issued a statement the other day and freed more people than the Emancipation Proclamation.

-:-

ITS RESEARCH, the commission reported, proves conclusively that in the atom age survival of the fittest is synonymous with the fattest.

That isn't a grave you're digging with your teeth, the Commission said to the stylish stouts—that's an X-radiaion shelter.

Scientists at the University of Southern California have discovered, the AEC continued, that fat rats withstand the effects of such radiation a lot better than the skinny ones.

That crackling you hear out back, Elmer, is a bonfire of 9 to 90-day diets.

This whole nation which for 30 years has either been on a diet or about to go on one tomorrow now knows that Mrs. Jack Spratt, who would eat no lean, has been on the right track all the time.

JACK, who would eat no fat, and yon Cassius with his lean and hungry look are weak reeds in an atom age. "A lean horse for a long race" may have been smart handicapping in the past, but Falstaff and Mrs. Jack are favorites in the atom sweepstakes.

"Fat in the diet is essential for normal resistance to X-radiation," the AEC says.

This simple ukase makes the potato both legal and respectable for the first time in decades and means that the nation can draw up to the table this evening and ask for econds without feeling either surreptitious or subversive.

A woman with cocoanut cake on her breath need no longer chew Sen-Sen before going to the bridge club where the girls all talk as stringent a diet as the next.

AS A MATTER of fact, the effects of the AEC announcement can be so far-reaching as to defy imagination.

The overweight need no longer be overwrought. Three-D mama can simply explain that she is insuring her future.

The commission announcement may even bring back the lost art of conversation which began to lose its way in the first place when diets preempted general discourse.

It can even solve the nation's agricultural problem by doing away with both surpluses and the need for farm subsidie.

It is a caution to me that news of the AEC's dramatic, earth-shaking report should have leaked in advance to the Paris couture as it plainly has.

Inside information that the new look would be pleasingly plump can only account for the "bulky" or "too big" look that Paris fashion has decreed for 1953-54.

PARIS HAS got there fustest with clothes into which American women can expand as they let themselves and the calories go. The hour-glass is making way for the beer barrel. The silhouette is going all out for survival.

The late Alexander Woollcott was certainly born 30 years too soon. He once said that everything pleasant is either illegal or fattening.

He should have lived to hear the AEC admonish the customers to eat, drink and be merry that tomorrow they may live.

Richwood Man Pursues Rare Work

Frank Riley One of Few Men Left Engaged in Harness Making

By DOLORES BASINGER

Harness racing will never die . . . not as long as there's a blunt old master of harness-making around named Frank Riley.

Riley, who's been at one of the country's rarest occupations for some 30 years in Richwood, is a gruff but likeable gent. He's one of the three or four harness-makers left in Ohio. His hardware shop is located on Richwood's main street and houses various types of equipment used in connection with race horses. At the back of the shop is a room where Riley forms harnesses from long sheets of leather.

Standard rule around Riley's Hardware Store is that when you pass through the portals separating the store from the work shop you assume a new outlook on life. As Riley quite aptly puts it, "Back here (in the work shop) you can chew, spit and cuss."

—:—

HIS WORK SHOP resembles an attic that's been forgotten too long. A few pieces of machinery, rolls of leather, mostly imported, several vises and a long table to hold the beginning of a few harnesses, and hand tools create the work shop atmosphere. Scraps of leather goods clutter the floor, but the harness-maker offers no apologies. "It doesn't do any good to sweep," he comments. He doesn't believe in painful politeness. You might say he doesn't use tact, but then Frank Riley doesn't need it. Everyone who knows Riley, also knows his "bark is worse than his bite" and that there's a lot of humor hidden behind his bluntness.

Some 33 years ago Riley started out to help a friend, who was a harness maker, open a business. He got interested in the trade and has been at it ever since.

"Only the dumb ones are still at it," Riley growls. "The smart ones quit and got rich."

MOST PEOPLE, unless they're horse lovers or there happens to be a harness-maker in the family, never stop to think about the labor that goes into making a harness. It takes approximately 100 hours to make a harness such as one of those which Riley makes and sends to various parts of the country. Most of the work is done by hand with small tools such as cutters and needles while some of the sewing is done on special sewing machines in the shop.

A harness gets its beginning from a long, flat sheet of leather. For each piece that is part of the harness, the harness-maker cuts a strip of leather a certain length and width. The piece is then shaped, sewn to another piece of leather by hand or machine, cemented and finally dyed or smoothed along the edges for finishing touches. An average harness costs the buyer about $175 and weighs some ten pounds. Greatest share of the expense is labor.

IN HIS SPARE minutes, Riley is working on a harness for his own beloved Carrie Brewer, a two-year-old trotter, who'll begin her racing career this fall. The outfit is made of imported English harness leather and, when finished, will weigh about seven pounds. Riley explains that the lighter harness, of a fine quality, can be used with Carrie because she's a very gentle filly. "Carrie is a lady," he beams.

A real horse lover, Riley has served on judges' stands at race tracks throughout the country and sees all the "big races." He gave up harness racers he once owned in 1954 and for seven years forgot about owning any of the standardbreds. But last fall it was love at first sight, and Riley couldn't resist buying Carrie. Riley has trained the filly himself and has her scheduled for five starts this year.

Riley, who is a widower, lives with his daughter, Miss Margaret Ann Riley in Richwood, where he's been a resident since 1917. A great uncle, Will Rapp, preceded Riley in the harness-making field when he operated a shop in Marion many years ago.

Man, Held on Theft Charge, Judged Sane

William Dale Snavely, 31-year-old Bucyrian who admitted stealing articles valued at approximately $1,000, was found to be sane following a 30-day observation period at the Lima State Hospital, Marion County Prosecutor Ralph Carhart said today.

He has been returned to the Marion County jail pending grand jury action scheduled for next Wednesday. He was picked up May 17 by the Marion County sheriff's office for investigation. He admitted stealing some of the loot over a period of several months, but claimed he found other articles confiscated from his home and automobile.

ONE DRIVER ARRESTED

One traffic arrest was reported today by city police. James R. Shockey, 26, 321 Olney Ave. was charged with operating an automobile on a temporary permit without the presence of a licensed driver. He is being held today by city police.

ARGUMENT SETTLED

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (UP)—County Judge Richard Simpson easily settled the argument between J. T. Nicholas, 44, Lawrenceville, and Henry Clay Clark, 46, Metropolis, after they were brought before him and accused each other of driving the car whose erratic movement caused police to bring them in. He fined Nicholas and Clark $100 and costs each.

When It Comes to Saving Money on Food

It's Storewide Low Prices That Count the Most!

The typical Food Super Market, including A&P, stocks over 3000 items on its shelves and in its display cases but the typical food newspaper ad is seldom able to include more than 100 to 150 items. This is only a small sampling of the store's price policy. Therefore, as useful as they are, the newspaper ads do not tell the whole story. That is why we repatedly say "COME SEE AT A&P."

Only by seeing for yourself can you discover how much you can save at A&P on the items and brands that you prefer. You'll be delighted at the lower prices you'll discover on the rank and file merchandise up and down the aisles and you'll be delighted with how much you can save on your total food bill. Then you'll see why we say "IT'S STOREWIDE LOW PRICE THAT COUNT THE MOST!"

NEW TYPE BLIMP MADE

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A new type of blimp, similar but larger than those used in submarine spotting in World War II, is being constructed by the Goodyear Aircraft Corp.

"YES, I FELL DOWN!" Two-year-old Paul Slantis of Pittsburgh was irked when this picture was taken after he came home with his first black eye. First, he had to explain that he hadn't been fighting. He fell down, Paul said. Then he posed for his dad, Paul Slantis, a staff photographer for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Congressman Would Give Food to U.S. Needy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Yorty (D-Calif) urged the administration today to consider giving some of the government's vast surplus food stocks to needy Americans.

Yorty specifically suggested in a statement for the Congressional Record given to aged pensioners families with the father or mother missing because of divorce or death, and families having six or more children under 18.

MEDICAL DIRECTOR DIES

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Saturday for Dr. Dan M. McDonald, 78, medical director for the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. for 40 years. Dr. McDonald, who retired in 1946, died at his home yesterday.

NO MISTAKE. "Miss Ohio" for the annual "Miss America" beauty pageant is 19-year-old Martha Zimmerman of Salem, shown after winning her title at Mentor-on-the-Lake, O., and thus "recouping" from a beauty contest rhubarb of last winter, in which it was reported a case of mistaken identity made her runner-up instead of winner. That was the contest for an Ohio Sesqui-Centennial queen.

CAREY SOLDIER ON LEAVE

CAREY—Sgt. Franklin Clouse, who had been serving in Japan the past three years, has arrived in Carey on a 20-day furlough. He is a son of Mrs. Dorothy Thom. At the conclusion of his furlough, he will report to Fort Devons, Mass., where on August 25, he will re-enlist for his third three-year period of military service.

Distraught Mother Slays 3 Children, Then Slashes Self

ARAB, Ala. (AP) — A distraught mother answered her children's invitation to join them in play yesterday by cutting their throats and slashing herself wildly.

From a hospital bed Mrs. Pearl Griffin told Coroner Aubrey Carr she felt her nerves "let go" about four months ago.

Carr said the 26-year-old mother killed Rickey Grifin, 6, Ronnie, 4, and Rosalind, 3, while they were alone in her parents' home in Oleander, seven miles north of here. Her father, W. F. Chaney, said she had been suffering with a nervous disorder.

Carr said the mother told him she had repeatedly asked her family to send her to a mental institution, and had told her husband she was going to kill herself.

She said she had worried about leaving the children to be "pushed around."

When the children called to her to join them in play, she picked up her father's razor, went upstairs and killed them, Carr said the mother related.

Hosea Griffin, 16-year-old brother-in-law of the woman said he saw blood dripping from the ceiling of the living room when he returned to the house.

The youth ran to the upper floor and found the bodies of the children on the floor. The mother lay among them, still clutching the razor.

Carr said Mrs. Griffin told her father, "I killed my children so they would go to heaven. I couldnt leave them behind."

When he was an amateur boxer, Ezzard Charles, former world heavyweight champion, worked as a porter in a clothes shop.

Fredericktown Woman Assisting With POWs

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Eight civilian Red Cross workers — five American women, one English woman and two American men—are on duty at Freedom Village, where liberated prisoners of war are processed for their journey home.

The Americans include: Dorothy Durieux, Rt. 3, Fredericktown, Ohio.

Four kinds of hummingbirds, among them the Calliope, which is the smallest in North America, are found in New Mexico.

City Will Fight Turnpike, Says Elyria Mayor

Court Action Promised Over Commission's Refusal To Reroute

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Henry W. Ault says the Ohio Turnpike Commission's refusal to move the route of the superhighway further north in Elyria leaves the city no choice but to erect a tremendous legal roadblock.

Ault described the commission in a statement last night as a "super bureau operating under the delusion that it is a law onto itself."

And he accused the commission's chairman, James W. Shocknessy, of believing the commission "is empowered to operate above and beyond the laws of Ohio which govern the action of all other public and private agencies and individuals."

He said Shocknessy has "committed the turnpike commission to prolonged litigation that finds the commission clearly and unmistakably outside the law."

"We shall be pleased," he declared, "to fight for the rights of all Ohio cities in the litigation we have strived for months to avoid."

"We shall erect a tremendous roadblock to the dictatorial efforts of Mr. Shocknessy to jam this huge toll road down our throats and through our city in direct violation of Ohio law and contrary to the accepted principles of highway planning."

Ault also accused Shocknessy of refusing to grant representatives of Elyria an interview to argue the matter.

Shocknessy declined comment today in Columbus on Ault's statement.

"He's said nothing," the turnpike commission chairman said. "He doesn't like what we're doing so we're being dictatorial. I have nothing to say."

Yacht Carrying Group From Canton Grounded

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A crash boat from Langley Air Force Base removed 30 persons today from the sailing yacht Anna Helen after she had run aground in Chesapeake Bay two miles northwest of Wolf Trap Light Station.

Coast Guard vessels pulled the yacht free and towed her to an anchorage in the Rappahannock River.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the Anna Helen was bound from Annapolis, Md., to Jamestown, Va., with a group of fathers and sons from Canton, Ohio.

Hoskins Loses

Nats Explode for 17 Hits In 11-0 Win Over Indians

WASHINGTON (AP)—The in-and-out Cleveland Indians were in the doghouse again today. A humiliating 11-0 defeat dropped them back to 8½ games out of first place and ended their six-game winning streak.

After going 22 innings without a run, Washington's Senators exploded for 17 hits off four Cleveland hurlers last night while Bob Porterfield held the Tribe to six blows.

It was Porterfield's 13th victory and seventh shutout of the season and extended his string of scoreless innings to 20.

Dave Hoskins, making his second start for the Indians, suffered his second loss in six decisions and had to be removed in the seventh after giving up 8 runs and 13 hits.

Bill Wight, Bob Hooper and Ted Wilks followed him to the mound in an effort to stem the onslaught.

Wilks, who allowed three runs on three hits and two walks, might be excused for the rustiness he displayed. It was his first appearance since May 20, and for the entire season he had pitched only one and one-third innings.

Mickey Vernon, Pete Runnels and Pompeyo Davalillo led the Nats' attack with three hits apiece, but every man in their lineup got at least one safety.

The series finale between the two clubs today will have Bob Feller (6-5) take the mound for the Tribe against Spec Shea (8-3). Shea has beaten the Indians on both of the two occasions he has faced them this season.

GETS CARD FROM MAMIE

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Miss Florence Bardill puts a little extra importance on one of the letters she received for her 90th birthday. It was signed, Mamie Doud Eisenhower. A neighbor wrote the President's wife that Miss Bardill's birthday was yesterday.

Ted Kluszewski Belts Pair for Homer Record

CINCINNATI (AP) — It probably isn't any news to Rogers Hornsby but it looks a cinch he'll have to depend on his left handed pitchers if the Cincinnati Redlegs are to improve their current sixth place standing in the National League.

Hornsby went all the way with his right handers yesterday and wound up with nothing but a 6-4 defeat at the hands of the last place Pittsburgh Pirates.

He started with Bud Podbielan and then tried to stem the tide with Frank Smith, Clyde King and Bob Kelly.

It didn't work.

Even in defeat, the Reds managed to set one new record yesterday.

Ted Kluszewski hit two home runs and the first one broke the Cincinnati all time record for home runs by a left handed hitter. The old mark was 30 set by Ival Goodman in 1938.

Kluszewski's two wallops gave him 32 for the season and pulled him back to within one of the major league leading total of 33 by Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves.

Gus Bell also got a homer for the Redlegs to boost his total to 25 for the season.

Paul Smith and Hal Rice hit for the circuit for the Pirates.

The two teams were to end their series today and Hornsby said he'd go back to his southpaws with Ken Rafensberger due to work against either Murry Dickson or Johnny Lindell.

Newark, Cincinnati Legion Nines Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Newark meets Cincinnati today in the game which will probably decide the 1953 Ohio American Legion unior Baseball championship.

Newark and the Queen City Bentley Post are the only two undefeated teams in the double elimination tournament. Cincinnati has won 24 consecutive games this season and is defending its state and national titles.

Four more teams were ousted in yesterday's play. Springfield eliminated Euclid 5-2; Holgate dropped Neff 3-0; Celina dumped Akron 8-6, and Sycamore edged Columbus Scioto-St. Charles 12-11 in 15 innings.

Newark won an uphill victory from Warren 8-7. Cincinnati was idle.

Birds Give Clue In Battle of Sexes

CHICAGO (UP) — Dr. Austin L. Rand, who used to think the battle of the sexes was a by-product of civilization, now believes it is "probably as old as sex itself."

Rand, curator of birds at Chicago Natural History Museum, said his change in thinking came about after a careful study of the feathered fauna's feeding habits.

He believes these habits so important that "competition for food between the sexes is possibly a factor in evolution and responsible in part for characteristics . . . that distinguish the sexes."

Writing in the museum's monthly periodica, Dr. Rand said that in many cases the two sexes have different food preferences, or if the preference is the same, they get their food in different ways.

"It is possible that further study may bring to light additional case of sex differences that are of advantage to the species in enabling the sexes to eat different things," he wrote.

"Thus, slowly, differences between the sexes would accumulate."

However, Dr. Rand conceded, "this sort of evolution would be limited." There is the "necessity for coming together, for at least a short period, at nesting time."

Common Foe Refuses To List Pick in Championship Scrap

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Bill Wilson, a journeyman heavyweight from Charlotte, N. C., hasn't cut any swath through the division since he started fighting a decade ago but he's probably the only man alive who had been knocked out by both Rocky Marciano and Roland La Starza.

Here, then, is a fellow who should know whereof he speaks when comparing the merits of the pair. He also was knocked out by Hein Ten Hoff, the ex - heavyweight champion of Europe. But that was Tuesday night in Ridgewood Grove.

Marciano starched him in December 1950, and La Starza, who fights Rocky for the heavyweight title on Sept. 24, sent him to the canvas in February 1952. Marciano's job was a one-rounder, La Starza's a four-rounder.

"You should remember that Marciano never did floor me," he said in his dressing room last night after Ten Hoff polished him off in 2:58 of a scheduled 10. "I cut my eye in that fight. But from my brief encounter with him, Marciano looked like a pretty good puncher to me."

He said both Marciano and La Starza never were in any hurry to stop the other fellow in the ring. They just sort of felt him out in the first.

Who would win the title bout? No prediction.

Toledo, Colonels Open Series in AA

Toledo, American Association leader, plays host to runnerup Louisville tonight in the opener of a series which may loosen the jam at the top of the AA standings.

Last night Louisville edged third-place Indianapolis, 2-1, to remain two games behind Toledo, which blanked Kansas City, 4-0. The Indianapolis setback left the Indians only four games behind the pace-setting Sox.

In other league games, Columbus blanked St. Paul and last-place Charleston split a twin bill with Minneapolis. The Millers took the opener 4-2, but the Senators won the 6-inning nightcap 6-1.

Toledo's Gene Conley gained his 17th triumph of 1953 as he shut out the Blues on three hits.

Olympic miler Warren Dreutzler holds Michigan State's mile and two mile records at 4:08.8 and 9:08.9 respectively.

Chorus Lassie Eats To Work

CHICAGO, (INS) — Most people work to eat but a former New York chorus girl literally eats o work.

Lee Eason eats as many as six or eight meals a day as part of her job.

Lee is a "food tester" for the Diner's Club, a credit agency for restaurants.

Lee and two other girls similarly employed are sent to the nation's leading restaurants and nigh clubs to taste food and judge service given their customers.

If the girls return a favorable report, the restaurant is put on the Diner's Club approval list and is distributed to more than 100,000 members who have credit cards to the 3,000 cateries on the list.

Now, with all that food consumption, Lee should be a bit on the plump side. But Lee is definitely slender. She stand five feet, four inches tall and weighs only 115 pounds.

A green-eyed brunette of 22, Lee Easton credits exercise — lots of it—with keeping all the food she eats from showing itself in unsightly bulges in her waistline and hips.

Since she joined the club's staff two years ago, Lee has visited more than 500 restaurants.

A typical excursion into gastronomy took her to Boson for five days where she visited 18 restaurants and ate with relish at each one.

Lee Easton likes food and so likes her job. But she has another reason for being fond of her work. Her husband, Matty Simmons, is promotion director of the Diner's Club.

Birth Notice Brings Back Lost Bracelet

The bracelet, presented to him by his wife, finally has been returned to the owner, with the aid of a birth notice.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover, who have since established residence here, recently became the parents of a boy.

A local woman, Mrs. Joseph Piehler, seeing the birth notice in the paper, remembered vaguely the name Richard Grover. Then it dawned on her. She recollected that in 1946 she found a bracelet on which that name was inscribed. She had put it in a drawer and forgotten it until she read the birth notice.

UNFAIR TACTICS

HOLLAND, Mich. (UP)—A rowboat collided with an automobile near here. It happened during a windstorm. The wind lifted the boat from churning Lake Michigan and threw it into the side of a car driven by George Rozema.
